Snow and Sunshine Surprising Mr. Sandino Fat Body—Tired Heart Forty the Best Age

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

HODGE, CALIF., Jan 6.—Eastern visitors wonder at little striped awning seen at the driver's window on California automobiles. Driving about Southern California, they soon understand. Without such awnings, sunshine makes the driving wheel too hot for pleasant driving.

On this Mojave tableland, 2,000 feet above the Pacific the sun is less hot, snakes and lizards hibernate, but onions and other crops grow through the Winter. And nothing grows unless you plant and irrigate it, therefore there are no weeds. Onion growers well know what that means.

In nearby mountains, 4,000 feet higher than this desert, the snow lies very deep. Los Angeles people motor up to Big Bear for skiing and tobogganing, and return with snow piled high on running boards and mud guards to let neighbors see what it looks like. You find variety here.

Mr. Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel who shot our marines—getting his money, ammunition and khaki uniforms from "some other country," according to Colonel Gulick, is said to be fleeing to the mountain forests with his men. It took Uncle Sam a long time to persuade Sandino that killing our men is dangerous pastime. Many Mexicans, I think, believe that their cousins beat the United States easily enough. If it were not for Texas, which won't let them, they have fought Texans, and know what it means.

The Navy plans to send a flock of airplanes carrying reinforcements of marines to Nicaragua on a non-stop flight. That excellent idea should be able to send a swarm of a thousand, and on the trip let gentlemen that send ammunition to Sandino know what sort of trouble they are inviting.

Even a few planes, from our pathetic little collection, will have some effect. Gringos, writing letters in Washington, then swiftly backing down when anything happens, are not convincing to Mexicans.

But Gringos dropping soiled, ex-

PRISON MATRONS WILL ESCORT RUTH SNYDER INTO DEATH CHAMBER

Sing Sing Prison, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Following his return to Sing Sing from a mysterious visit to Albany, where he spent the entire morning, Warden Lewis L. Lawes began a rigid investigation into alleged activities of one of Ruth Snyder's attorneys and a representative of another of her counsel.

Pending conclusion of his inquiry, both the attorney, Joseph Lonardo of Long Island City, and Frank Bambara, employed by Edgar F. Hazelton, are ordered barred from the prison.

Word has reached here that the fate of Ruth and Henry Judd Gray will be pronounced early Monday morning by Governor Smith. The Governor made this statement today at the Hotel Biltmore, in New York, but refused to comment upon the case. His decision on the condemned couple's plea will be made from Albany.

Bambara was first ordered barred from Sing Sing when it was learned he has been improperly obtaining admission to Mrs. Snyder's cell by signing himself as "attorney associate," giving attendants to understand that he was a lawyer.

Officials blame Attorney Lonardo, who has been the most frequent visitor among Ruth's legal staff, for

CITE S4 CRASH SKIPPER DEFENDANT; FIND 6 DEAD

The naval court of inquiry at the Boston Navy Yard was suddenly halted today, when Commander Leroy Renburg, in charge of the Third Coast Guard Destroyer Division, incensed by the arbitrary action of the court in making Lieutenant Commander John S. Bayis a defendant, demanded and obtained an adjournment until Monday.

In an interview granted newspapermen after adjournment, Commander Reinburg said he wanted time to determine the Coast Guard's standing before the court, and to Provincetown, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Six more bodies of members of the crew of the sunken submarine S-4 were recovered by divers in the engine room today. This brought the number of bodies to 12.

The six bodies were found lying two by two on the floor of the compartment between the engines and only a short distance toward the stern from the point at which four bodies were recovered yesterday.

Six divers went down during the forenoon in groups of three. The first group recovered four bodies and the second found the other two.

INSULL GAVE $237,925 IN ILLINOIS CAMPAIGN

Washington, Jan. 7 (I.N.S.).—Hoping to purge himself of contempt charges, Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire utility king, today revealed to the Senate campaign fund probe $40,000 additional contributions in the Illinois election of 1926.

He testified he gave $25,000 to Charles F. Francis for the "Small-Lundin organization," and $20,000 to George E. Harding, for the "Hard-ing organization," making a total of $237,925 in the campaign.

The $40,000, he said, was in addition to the $125,000 he gave to the campaign fund of Senator-Elect Frank L. Smith (R.) of Illinois, the $15,000 he gave George E. Brennan, the Democratic nominee, the $32,925 he spent on anti-world court propaganda, and gifts of $1,000 to Charles J. Barrett and Roy O. West and $5,000 to Samuel E. Rae.

Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman, announced the meeting was called primarily to hear Smith. The latter's attorney, however, said Smith was willing to stand aside while the committee heard Insull.

20 DROWNED BY FLOOD OF THAMES IN LONDON

London, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Twenty persons were drowned today when the most devastating flood in the history of modern London swept the Thames River over its banks as an abnormal tide whipped by a heavy gale, met waters pouring down from the interior.

The rush of water was so sudden that hundreds of persons sleeping in basement rooms were driven from their beds, at least twenty being trapped and drowned.

As the tide went out, the Thames returned to normal, but fearing a recurrence of the disaster at the

'TIS DEATH! MOTHER TELLS RUTH

Mrs. Josephine Brown informed her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, that all hope of a reprieve or stay of execution is gone and that Ruth and Judd Gray must die on Jan. 12. The mother requested she be allowed to break the news. Photo shows them at trial.

Children May See Jordan Marsh Exhibits Sunday

In order to give every school child and the general public an opportunity to see the window exhibits of the ten most important events in the history of our country, Jordan Marsh Company announced today that it would waive the time honored custom of 40 years of drawing its window shades on Saturday night in order that school teachers may take their classes to view the exhibits Sunday.

This is in response to hundreds of requests received by the firm since these "historical windows" were first shown to the public last Tuesday. The exhibits will remain throughout the month, after which it will not be seen in New England again.

DARROW FIGHTING TO SAVE VERMONT KILLER

To keep a pledge given his son twenty-four years ago, Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, will argue before the Vermont State Supreme Court next week for the life of John C. Winters, under sentence to be hanged for the murder of Celia Gullivan.

Darrow has been in Boston a week going over the briefs in the case and preparing his argument. He was found today at the home of friends by the Boston Evening American.

"I have gone far enough into the case already," said the man who defended Leopold and Loeb and opposed the late William J. Bryan at the "evolution trial," "to determine there was a lack of evidence enough to convict under any ordinary circumstances. Winters was the victim of the hue and cry to 'get somebody' for the Gullivan slaying and the flimsy evidence on which he was found guilty has many boobholes.

In 1904 after Paul E. Darrow, the lawyer's son, innocently caused the death of five-year-old Harry Cooley in a runaway horse accident, Darrow

COOLIDGE STARTS BIG WAVE OF STOCK BUYING

New York, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—President Coolidge's statement that he saw no reason for unfavorable comment in the large volume of brokers' loans started a gigantic buying movement today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Initial sales of one to nearly five points were scattered over a broad list of issues, with several blocks of 2,000 to 12,000 shares changing hands in the early trading.

WOMAN TAKEN IN SHIP THEFT CASE ACCUSED OF HANDLING $64,000

Police today announced the recovery of $141,000 of the alleged loot taken from the Eastern Steamship Company and had their long search for a woman quarry rewarded when Mrs. Rae Hessel Weichman, fourth member of the Hessel family to be accused in the thefts, surrendered herself.

The authorities found and placed an attachment on $29,000 in $1,000 bills secreted in a safety deposit box in a Boston bank and also attached four bank accounts here and in Detroit, totaling $112,000.

The attachments were placed on the Detroit accounts by Inspector Frank Haggerty who went to that city for that purpose and also for the purpose of questioning still another woman member of the Hessel family.

Mrs. Rae Hessel Weichman, who is charged with larceny of more than $64,000, is the oldest of several sisters. One of them, Mrs. Eva Elta Gordon, is under arrest and in jail, having been unable to put up bail. Her husband, George W. Gordon; her brother, Max Hessel, and her sister, Zella Hessel, have also been arrested, the last two being out under bail.

DENIES GUILT.

Surrendering to Inspector John F. McCarthy, who, with Inspector Haggerty, is responsible for a rapid cleaning up of the case, Mrs. Weichman went to the office of District Attorney Foley, accompanied by At-

'L' TRAIN CRUSHES MAN; WIFE DIED YESTERDAY

Less than twenty-four hours after the death of his wife, John B. Gaffey of No. 14 Wayne street, Roxbury, today fell into the path of a train on the southbound track at the Northampton street Elevated station and was probably fatally injured.

His wife, Mrs. Mary R. Gaffey, died yesterday. His duties as boss of a force of plumbers at City Hospital required his attendance at work for a short time today, but he was on his way home when the accident occurred. Within a few minutes he was back at the same hospital, dying.

His wife's death is believed to have aggravated heart trouble from which he was suffering, causing a dizzy spell that sent him toppling into the track pit just as a train approached. He is fifty-nine years old.

Although terribly crushed and burned by current from the third rail, he was still alive when taken from beneath the forward car by Patrolman John J. Dever and rushed to the hospital in a police ambulance.

He was dragged several yards by the forward car. His left hand was

FIRE MENACES SALEM BUSINESS DISTRICT

Preceded by two explosions, a general alarm fire broke out in the Mercantile Bank Building, Essex street, Salem, early today, which for a time menaced the entire business area.

The blaze started in the Robb Photo Studio on the fifth of the six-story brick structure. Whether the cause was due to motion picture film or flashlight powder has not been determined. The damage was estimated by fire officials at about $50,000, mostly smoke and water.

The structure is located at Nos. 178-225 Essex street, near Town Hall square which is in the widely congested business section. Scores of wooden buildings are in the vicinity.

With Death Clutching for Her ⌣ Ruth Faces Even Grimmer Ordeal ⌣ If She Clasps Baby in Last Embrace

given up hope that their attorneys will be able to save them from the electric chair. Mrs. Snyder was in permitting Bambara to go in under such circumstances.

Depression—physical, mental and spiritual—was in Mrs. Snyder's voice today as she spoke to a prison attache in the death house.

"I feel awful bad," she said.

Prison authorities today began final preparations for the double execution.

Twenty-four witnesses have been selected. Twenty will be newspaper men and the other four physicians. All will sign the register as witnesses. Formal invitations will be sent to them within the next few days.

The executions will take place a few minutes before midnight next Thursday.

No telephone or telegraph wires will be allowed in the prison, for the warden wants as little sensationalism as possible. Wires will be installed in the Ossining railroad station, half a mile away.

A woman, perhaps two, will accompany Mrs. Snyder to the execution chamber. Several matrons were present at the execution of Mrs. Martha Place years ago.

Mrs. Snyder and Gray have both a high nervous state today. Gray was calm and resigned to his fate.

Mrs. Josephine Brown, mother of Ruth, who broke the news to her that she must die next Thursday, said today the doomed woman had begged to see her daughter, Lorraine, 10 years old, just once before the execution.

Three alienists of the State Lunacy Commission will examine Ruth and Gray next Wednesday to ascertain whether the mental strain of the last days has brought out any indications of insanity. The alienists will report later to Governor Smith.

Mrs. Snyder's behavior when she goes to the chair has become the subject of conjecture. Prison guards generally believe she will walk quietly down the long corridor of the death house, meeting her end calmly. On the other hand, Alfred Cones, fifty years a guard at the prison, who helped lead Mrs. Place to her doom, declared:

"You never can tell how a woman will act in such a terrible situation."

Several guards were of the opinion that she would be carried, screaming, to the chair.

Warden Lawes, however, said both Mrs. Snyder and Gray were physically and mentally strong and he did not expect her emotions to be greater than those of any other condemned person.

BLACK CALLS FOR RESIGNATION OF WILBUR

Washington, Jan. 7 (I.N.S.).—Demand for the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was made on the floor of the House today by Rep. Black (D.), New York. Black asserted Wilbur's regime had lowered the prestige of the navy among the powers of the world.

The demand for Wilbur's resignation came during consideration of President Coolidge's proposal for a sweeping inquiry into the submarine scrape.

Sap Runs in Lowell; Arbutus Picked in Florence

Northampton, Jan. 6 (A.P.).—With temperature more like that of April than January, a woman living in Florence today picked a bouquet of arbutus in woods near her home.

Lowell, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Sap was found running from trees on the grounds of the Immaculate Conception Church here today as the temperature rose above the 50 mark. There was a soft breeze from the south to further hoodwink the unsuspecting that Winter had come and gone.

British Ship Pays Fine

The British steamer Stella, R., which has been under guard in the harbor for more than a week with 2,300 gallons of alcohol aboard, was released today after a fine of $500 was paid for irregularities in the manifest.

CUPID MIXES IN POLITICS

MISS CONSTANCE INNES
Daughter of Charles H. Innes, Boston Republican leader, filed intentions at Marshfield to marry Stanley L. Stevens, insurance solicitor of Detroit, and it is understood that a waiver of the five-day law was unattainable in the absence of the judge. Their plans have been kept secret, and it is not known whether they are already married or when they are going to be. Mr. Innes admitted his daughter had filed intentions but would make no comment.

badly burned by the third rail and he also suffered an electric shock. His skull was fractured and his forehead deeply gashed.

As he pitched from the station platform several men standing nearby tried to render aid, but the train bore down upon him with screeching brakes before they could help. It was already rolling into the station when Gaffey fell. Patrolman Dever was summoned to the scene by passengers leaving the train. He succeeded in removing the injured man so speedily that traffic on the Elevated was halted for only four minutes.

LEVINE MUST SETTLE FOR $300,000 SAYS UNCLE SAM

Washington, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Charles A. Levine, who traversed the Atlantic in an airplane with Clarence Chamberlin, has been notified by the Department of Justice that unless he settles the government's claims growing out of the sale of surplus war materials, his case will be brought into Federal Court. It is understood the department has offered to settle for $300,000, while Levine's attorneys are offering $100,000.

PRISONERS HANG HICKMAN IN EFFIGY AND JEER HIM

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7 (I.N.S.).—William Edward Hickman, kidnaper and murderer of Marion Parker, was hanged in effigy today by fellow prisoners in the County Jail. Prisoners in a cell adjoining Hickman's had obtained his photograph. Tying a heavy cord about this photograph the other prisoners dangled it in front of Hickman, jeering him. Hickman's guard immediately was redoubled by Chief Jailer Frank Lyons.

MANY DOCTORS BLUFF, HE SAYS

"Too many doctors today are lazy, indifferent and have been bluffing with the average patient for the good of the profession," was but one of the startling statements today made by Dr. C. J. Gaddis of Chicago at the 25th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Osteopath Society, held at the Hotel Statler.

"A patient is entitled to sincere, honest and intelligent consideration," he stated, "with the right to expect a doctor to keep awake on the job.

"A doctor to be a good one, must be a student; read books, attend lectures, take post-graduate courses and read current magazines.

"The general public is losing its once high regard for the average physician," he added in his talk, "Why Patients Leave Doctors."

Dr. Gaddis told of recent receipt of a letter from Galli Curci, grand opera star, in which she stated that need for osteopaths was frightfully apparent in the Old World, mentioning Rome in particular.

"The field for young men and women is vast," Dr. Gaddis said, as he advised the youth of the country to take up study for the profession.

TRUMBULL HITS BAY STATE ON DIVERSION OF WATER

Waterbury, Ct., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Gov. John T. Trumbull, speaking at the annual meeting of the Naugatuck Valley Yale Club, reviewed the water power question, particularly as it affects the Swift and Ware Rivers. He declared that the action of Massachusetts in seeking to divert the water from these rivers for the Metropolitan district of Boston "would set a precedent and we will fight the plan to the highest courts."

He spoke of Massachusetts plan as "high-handed" action and stated that Connecticut has no quarrel with Massachusetts and is willing to do all it can to help that State to meet its problems, but Connecticut must protect her own interest from unjust and unfair invasion.

'BONELESS COD HAS NO FINS,' SAYS HENDRY

"Stick to your last," was the advice given today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin to Alfred Crocker, Jr., Brockton shoemaker who criticized the codfish on the 1928 automobile number plates.

In his facetious communication, Goodwin intimated that Crocker started the rumpus over the "potbellied" cod to get even with the registrar for not "putting shoes on the plates."

Marty Welsh, Ben Pine, and other famous skippers out of Gloucester, he informed Crocker, have no particular kick against the fish, and stand ready to produce some potbellied specimens.

"You may have been born on Cape Cod, but it does not necessarily mean that you know your codfish, because I think the fishermen from Gloucester have a better idea of what is or is not a typical codfish than you could have," he wrote.

"The codfish may be skinny and anemic down your way, but up in Gloucester they are fat and healthy and that is what has made Gloucester famous throughout the whole country."

Warden Hendry, the registrar further advised the Brockton man, when asked why he had not put fins on the fish, made this comment:

"Goodwin wanted a codfish on the plates to advertise our leading industry, and I made the fish as it ought to be made. That fish is a boneless cod, and who ever heard of fine on a boneless cod?"

"Your suggestion that the codfish swim off the plate in 1929 will not be followed," Goodwin concluded. "146 is going to be on the plate if I have anything to do with it, but he is going to have his fins on him."

WAR SECRETARY ON WLOE

SAYS ARMY NEEDS HUB AIRPORT
Secretary of War Dwight L. Davis, who will be the chief speaker tonight at the Tech Alumni banquet, and whose address, with other features of the festivities, will be broadcast over WLOE. He declared the army expects Boston to find a site for an army airport here.

Laziest Man in World Dead in Ireland; in Bed 30 Years

Belfast, Ireland, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—George Thompson, who long had the reputation of being the laziest man in the world, died at Largan, County Armagh, today.

George took to bed in early manhood and declined to leave it for thirty years until, indeed, his mother, who supported him, was forced to enter the workhouse when he accompanied her. The authorities said that he couldn't loaf there, but he stayed with them anyway until his death.

HUB MUST FIND ARMY AIRPORT, SAYS DAVIS

"It's up to Boston to locate an army airport for the War Department."

This statement from no less a personage than Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, issued today from his own lips as he stopped at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, awaiting a speaking engagement tonight.

"We have surveyed the forts in the harbor. They are inadequate for flying fields, even for small scout planes. We have looked around other places and met with no success.

"An army airport must be provided here. The possibilities of air development require it.

"I am intensely interested in Boston and believe that somewhere here a suitable site is available."

Secretary Davis accomplished a two-fold purpose in making the trip from Washington. He is scheduled to speak before the M. I. T. alumni in annual banquet at the Boston Chamber of Commerce tonight and is taking the opportunity to visit his son, a student at Harvard.

torney Henry P. Fielding. She denied her guilt. She was then taken to police headquarters, fingerprinted and photographed.

Police allege she handled more than $44,000 of the alleged stolen money and they have charged her with larceny of $46,000 on Dec. 12, and $18,000 on Dec. 14.

She is said by police to have admitted handling $25,000 placed in her hands by relatives, but she denied knowing the source of the funds. She has lived in Detroit for several years but is said to have once been a resident of Boston.

Mrs. Weichman is the seventh arrested in the case. More arrests may result from Inspector Haggerty's trip to Detroit and investigations being conducted here by Inspector McCarthy.

Of the bank accounts totalling $112,000, one for $50,000 and one for $10,000 were at the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, according to the police. It was at this bank that the $28,000 excise was found in the safety deposit box, supposedly left there as an emergency fund when detectives got "hot" on the trail.

There were various transfers of funds between Boston banks and Detroit institutions, the police inspectors discovered, and it was tedious work tracing these transfers, but when the maze of transactions was untangled much valuable information had been gleaned. The names of several persons since arrested were discovered, as well as the names of others who are now being sought for questioning and who possibly face arrest.

District Attorney William J. Foley has assigned Assistant Frederick T. Doyle to present the evidence to the Grand Jury.

TOTAL OF 1,000 LAID OFF AT NAVY YARD

Increasing the layoff figures of the past three months to the thousand mark, 95 civilian workers were ordered "furloughed" today and 49 discharged for lack of work at the Charlestown Navy Yard, following close on orders at the Philadelphia Navy Yard discharging 500.

The next big job at Charlestown will not commence until March when reconditioning of the Shipping Board vessel Triumph will get under way. The furloughs and discharges will be effective between today and Tuesday.

Officials at the Philadelphia yard stated that 60 per cent of the 500 would probably return to work within six weeks.

NEW LOW AUTO PRICES ON HUDSON AND ESSEX

Detroit, Jan. 7.—New low prices on both the Hudson and Essex cars, announced by the Hudson Motor Car Company, bring the Essex sedan down to $795 as against the former price of $855, the coach to $735 and the rumble-seat coupe to $775.

New models as well as new low prices are announced for the Hudson, these models being a four-passenger custom Victoria and a five-passenger custom landau sedan, both priced at $1,650. The 7-passenger custom sedan is $1,950 and the 5-passenger sedan $1,450. There is also an entirely new model on the 118-inch chassis, an attractive coupe with rumble seat. All bodies, both on 125-inch and 118-inch Hudson chassis and on the Essex, are lower, longer and with clearer vision.

Hero of Fire

PAUL CUSICK

Quick action by Paul and Walter J. Cusick, Jr., sons of a Brookline selectman, saved their parents and other members of the household today as fire broke out in their home at No. 147 Kent street.

Smelling smoke, they investigated and found the kitchen in flames, an electric iron having ignited an ironing board, the fire smouldering for hours before spreading to the floor and walls.

They aroused everybody in the house and then attacked the flames with a fire extinguisher. An alarm was sent in and firemen saved the house, but damage estimated at $1,000 was caused to the first floor and furnishings.

TOXEMIA FOE OF YOUTH, SAYS FANNY WARD

By FRANCIS L. BAIRD.

The deadliest enemy of youth and beauty is toxemia—and that applies equally to flapper, middle-aged and elderly folks.

Fanny Ward, "perennial flapper," who admits she is 58 and who one would swear is not over 30 declares Father Time gets in his work the minute he finds a system clogged with improper foods or food in wrong combinations which causes poisonous gases.

"My regime is absolutely legitimate, nothing drastic like exercises, monkey glands or plastic surgery," said Miss Ward, who is appearing at the Metropolitan Theatre.

"The basis of youthful appearance is good health, and the way to health is to eliminate toxins from the system first. A woman, because she ages twice as fast as man must begin to care for her skin at 20."

Here is how Fanny herself does it.

She rises at 9, drinks a cup of coffee and rubs her face with ice. She breakfasts on baked apples, fish or brains, with no bread. White bread she avoids because of the starch in it. She drinks a cup of tea at 4 o'clock to "pick her up" a bit before dinner at 6:30. She eats no meat, but occasionally eats chicken, and never sugar or starch.

Before retiring she drinks a glass of hot water with a slice of lemon in it.

"Having found your proper food, next find a husband," Miss Ward advised. "Youth lingers longest with the married woman. I would not live alone as long as there is a man to marry."

Her husband, Jack Dean, is her manager.

Beauty for women begins with the care of the skin at twenty, she says. The first rule is: no soap and water to cleanse the skin. Instead use liquid cold cream, and be sure it agrees with your particular skin.

At thirty she must use a skin food under the eyes at night to prevent crow's feet. She needs a mask of cream that hardens on the skin to "iron it out" before going out to dinner. She must be care for the neck, using oil to insure fine texture and to feed the muscles.

At forty women must get an interest in life that will keep her mind alert besides heavy astringents to keep her facial muscles from sagging. The battle is to hold the youthful viewpoint.

At sixty woman must continue care of her skin and hair because the sooner she gets old the longer she will be old.

Hair must be fed with olive oil rubbed into the scalp once a month and left on over night. Shampoo every two weeks with liquid soap.

Dance to keep the legs firm at twenty, play tennis and dance at thirty, golf from forty on.

Toxemia is the foe of youth, she says, and must be kept out of the system by proper food, and tells how to retain youthful appearance by proper care of the skin.

URGE EXPRESS AUTO HIGHWAY, HUB TO N. Y.

Washington, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Studious consideration is being given by Republican House leaders to the advisability of the Federal government embarking on an automobile express highway construction program that ultimately would link up all sections of the country.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the House majority leader, said today that he had discussed the question with Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Public Roads Bureau.

He said:

"Between New York and Boston automobile traffic already is seriously congested. This could be relieved by an express highway upon which traffic could move at a high speed.

"It is proposed to have these highways routed around congested centres and connected with them by cut-off roads. The highways would bridge all other roads and railroads so there would be no cause for slowing down traffic at any point. The arterial highways, under plans already prepared by construction engineers, would be connected with other roads and other arterial highways by cut-off roads at the point of intersection.

"The cost of constructing these highways, it is proposed, would be met by collection of tolls."

FREES SAUGUS DOGS FOR DAY

Saugus dogs had a dog-gone good time today.

After being leashed for a month they were given freedom. But trouble looms between town and State officials.

The Saugus selectmen passed an order permitting the dogs' freedom today, but State Director of Animal Industry Fred C. Cummings says he will step into the town next week with members of the State Constabulary and shoot all dogs not leashed for the remainder of the 90-day order.

BOSTON IS WARMER THAN GEORGIA; MILD WEEK-END

Boston, with a temperature of 41 degrees above zero at 3 o'clock today, was warmer by fifteen degrees than Macon, Ga., exceeded the Washington mercury mark by three points and was only one degree cooler than Charleston, S. C.

New England is officially predicted to enjoy a week-end as mild as October or April usually offers. Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; slightly colder Sunday; fresh westerly winds, is the forecast.

AUTO HITS HYDRANT AND FLOODS TREMONT STREET

Part of Tremont street in the vicinity of No. 254 was flooded with water early today when a runaway truck, operated by Eugene E. Sullivan of Dorchester, snapped off a hydrant.

Sullivan lost control of the truck which shot up on the sidewalk, and after striking the hydrant carried off into the street again, crashing into the rear end of a taxi operated by John Gifford of Roxbury.

INFORMALITY MARKS ASSEMBLY BALL, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

From Dowagers to Debs the Group Was Resplendently Arrayed

IS THE SOCIAL ORDER CHANGING? HAS THE INFORMALITY of the age of syncopation come to influence even so august an event as Boston's Assembly Ball? Time was when arrival of the Assembly's invitation card meant a furbishing up of diadems and tiaras; pearl necklaces and dog collars. Diamond stomachers and sunbursts were inspected, later to dazzle and sparkle at the season's most formal occasion, looked upon by the patricians as "the" event of the Winter. But how now? Ropes of pearls are left to gleam unnoticed in strong boxes. Diamond tiaras glitter not above feminine coiffure. Even the dogcollar finds but few devotees among the old guard. Nevertheless, the Assembly Ball is still the most formal occasion of the Winter. It brings out the Old Guard as no other affair so does.

AND BY THAT DESIGNATION I WOULD INDICATE MRS. ROGER WOLCOTT, in black and gold lace; Mrs. Larz Anderson in holly red net heavily sequined; Mrs. John Chipman Gray, in a costume brilliantly scintillant, of gray sequins and a swirl of orchid tulle; Mrs. Clarence Ransom Edwards, in black lace and tulle and diamonds; her sister, Mrs. Stephen Van Rensselaer Thayer, in deep garnet velvet, her silvery hair held by diamond pins; Mrs. Edward Jackson Holmes in blue brocade; Mrs. Walter C. Baylies in smoke blue crepe, richly beaded; Mrs. Russell Sturgis Codman in rose velvet; Mrs. A. Winsor Weld in gray metal brocade; Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, in a stunning frock all crystal fringes; Miss Alice Stackpole in gold lace over rose; Mrs. DeForest Danielson's gold cloth, and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr in black with lace bandings. What could be more truly Old Guardish than these?

TO THE YEAR-OUT, THE TWO-YEAR OUT AND THE JUST-OUT set, a function done in the stately formal manner of the Assembly Ball has a certain fascination—possibly because of the entire Winter it's the one occasion when shoulder length white gloves come out of their tissue paper wrappings to lie in smooth splendour on feminine arms. At any rate, the girls shone brilliantly in the picture, even though their jewels were not tiaras dog collars and elaborate corsage ornaments, but for the most part a modest string or two of pearls, or antique designs to match the gown.

WHITE WAS SUFFICIENTLY THE FAVORITE TO GIVE emphasis to black or flashing colors; it is pleasant to picture Miss Margery Richardson's red tulle; Miss Cornelia Clark's coral velvet; Miss Helga Gray's vivid green frock that appeared even more vivid in contrast to its black velvet hip bow; Miss Beatrice Howell's golden yellow taffeta, with bands of brown tulle; Miss Edith Parker's black taffeta with net; Miss Ruth Baylies' Paris frock of elaborate flower beading on the sheerest of rose pink tulle; Miss Agnes Boardman's beaded tunic dress; Miss Betty Bartlett's picture frock of mauve taffeta, Miss Helen Scott in lilac taffeta and Miss Theodora Ayer in a striking affair of white taffeta banded in bright gold sequins.

DECIDEDLY OF SENIOR SUPPER DANCE FLAVOR WAS THE smart young married set in attendance; Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth in beaded lace, Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth in black velvet, Mrs. Ralph Bradley in rose crepe, Mrs. L. Cushing Goodhue in gray taffeta, Mrs. Thomas Blumer in white crepe, Mrs. Huntington Wolcott in black net, with antique bracelets and necklace of diamonds; Mrs. Theodore Frothingham in white satin, and Mrs. John Bolt wearing bead embroidered rose pink crepe with delightful jade green slippers of sequins and velvet to give a piquant touch. Miss Ella Snelling was in transparent velvet, her slippers and jade corsage ornaments exactly matching. Mrs. Dudley Howe wore a robe intricately patterned in beads. Mrs. N. Penrose Hallowell's gown was gold cloth with design of rose clusters.

QUITE EFFECTIVELY CAN SUCH A STATUESQUE MATRON AS MRS. FRANK SHAW WEAR gold lace, in formal mode, richened with a heavy gold chain falling nearly to the knees. Mrs. Augustus Neil Rantoul wore a handsome black velvet, a la basque. Mrs. Francis I. Amory's Assembly gown was canary yellow satin, with rhinestone corsage ornament. Mrs. George Saltonstall West wore gray velvet and carried an enormously long fronded ostrich fan. Mrs. Edwin S. Webster wore a picture gown of blue taffeta. Mrs. Joseph Leland was in rose petal tulle, with coral ornaments. Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman wore the ingenue mode, in pink chiffon, and Mrs. Thomas Gannett was in black velvet with diamond and pearl ornaments.

THAT VERY HANDSOME MATRON, MRS. BOYLSTON A. BEAL, WHO ALTERNATELY ORNAMENTS London and Boston society, was last evening gorgeously arrayed in Nile green transparent velvet, and for ornaments she chose pearls. Mrs. Ronald Lyman's slender height set off perfectly a gown of deep sapphire blue velvet. Her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Lyman, wore shell pink taffeta in the picture mode and picturesquely combined with black. Mrs. Norman Cabot was in green lace. Mrs. Edward Gray wore palest Nile green chiffon. Miss Suzanne Dabney's gown was handsomely done in black velvet, tulle and brilliants. Miss Pauline Fenno wore white satin. Mrs. Harry Hill Richardson wore pompadour taffeta and Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike was in mauve velvet.

APPEARING LATE AT THE FESTIVE SCENE, BUT MOST EFFECTIVE AS USUAL, MRS. MALCOLM GREENOUGH wore oyster white satin that rippled a bit to show black velvet. Mrs. Alexander Whiteside wore black velvet patterned in silver. Mrs. Hugh Scott wore metal cloth and Mrs. Richard Russell, with her metal brocade, wore vivid green tulle for airy scarf. Mrs. James Jackson, Jr., wearing gold lace, was one of the matrons bringing attractive daughters to this formal Assembly. Miss Rachel Jackson was in honey yellow. Miss Grace Cushing was in green crepe and her mother, Mrs. George Cushing, was in blue chiffon brocade. Quite a dashing bit of color was furnished by Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean's sequined frock of red and by Mrs. Gerald Boardman's coral velvet done in the tie back sash mode of the mauve decade.

THE NEW YEAR'S ADVENT IN WASHINGTON IS SHOWING THE FIRST LADY OF THE Land with some charming new frocks, some of the most charming in the Coolidge wardrobe, so the designators of "What's What for a President's Wife to Wear" are loud in declaring. Mrs. Coolidge's gray velvet and fur for Wednesday and wide chapeau for a Tuesday concert, and her afternoon gown of stamped velvet and silver cloth meet with general approval in feminine eyes for their smartness and in masculine eyes for their becomingness.

GOTHAM RINGS MANY CHANGES IN THE SOCIAL ORDER. SOMETIMES BOSTON FOLLOWS suit. But will Boston emulate Manhattan's Leap Year with a "doe line" of young women, instead of a "stag line" of men, a list of patrons instead of patronesses, and give a Leap Year affair, absolutely reversing the usual and accepted scheme? It's an innovation, and since Leap Year is only with us now and again, there is much to recommend it. The Leap Year Assembly at the Ritz-Carlton in New York gives the feminine of the species all the Leap Year privileges imaginable.

ORIGINAL PATRONS (NOT PATRONESSES) WHO SPONSORED THE FIRST LEAP YEAR Assembly, back in 1924, are down for honors this year: John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Darwin P. Kingsley, Herbert L. Satterlee, James Russell Lowell, Gilbert Colgate, Jr., and Dr. D. Hunter McAlpin. The last named is grandparent-in-law of an attractive former Bostonian, Miss Nina W. Underwood, now Mrs. David Hunter McAlpin, 3d. A real Leap Year Assembly should considerably brighten a waning season.

TAKING TIME BY THE FORELOCK, THE MASSACHUSETTS LEAGUE OF GIRLS' CLUBS, with Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell and Miss Eleanor Allan directing, are announcing an interesting lecture for February 1. They bring the Rev S. Parkes Cadman to Symphony, and are energetically disposing of tickets. Mrs. Clement K. Stodder, Mrs. Francis W. Kapper, Miss Mary St. B Eustis and Miss Lillian Dustin are leading the League along the path that successful benefit lectures have to take.

ONE SO VERY SELDOM SEES MISS MARY HUNNEWELL EXCEPT IN RIDING KIT THAT TO see her luxuriously be-wrapped and sumptuously arrayed is doubly a pleasure. At the benefit lecture for the Junior Division, S. P. C. C., at Symphony Hall Miss Hunnewell was much in evidence, and exactly in the picture in a stunning gown of lace over satin. Mrs. George Pierce Baker, Jr., the former Miss Ruth Bremer, was in black, with a cluster of brilliantly tinted flowers at one shoulder.

OF THIS YEAR'S CROP OF JUNIOR LEAGUERS (THEY HAVE DONE SO MANY "DUTIES" they must be way past the probationary stage) Miss Mary Mansfield and Miss Louise Hopkins, doing usher duty at the benefit lecture, are pleasant-to-look-upon specimens. A debutante trousseau provided Miss Hopkins a beautiful brocade and fur wrap to top an evening gown of satin, and from Miss Mansfield's bud outfit came a smart black satin frock for the benefit. Debutante ushers and flower sellers put on their prettiest frocks as uniform, and added as badge of office a leaf green ribbon band worn Sam Browne-wise.

LONG HUNT FOR BROTHER ENDS AT HIS FUNERAL

Worcester, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—Peter Matuzas of Newark, N. J., is finding life one problem after another. Thursday he came to the end of a search of 23 years when he attended the funeral of his brother, Frank Matuzas, whom he had not seen in 49 years. Today he began another search. He is now trying to locate between $10,000 and $15,000, which it is believed, his brother possessed.

A sum of $135, contained in a little sack, which was tied around the deceased man's neck was the only money found that day.

TAX REDUCTION DELAY POLITICS, SAYS BLACK

Washington, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—Postponement of tax reduction constitutes "a decision to use the surplus as a Republican campaign fund," Representative Black, Democrat, New York, said today in charging that President Coolidge wants to keep the Treasury surplus available as "political pork." "This is the golden opportunity for Dawes," he continued. "If he demands that the Senate proceed to consider the tax bill, he will jump into the lead for the honor of being beaten by Governor Smith."

PAULDING SKIPPER IS MADE DEFENDANT IN NAVY'S S4 INQUIRY

'WHOLE COAST GUARD ON TRIAL NOW,' ASSERTS BAYLIS

study the naval procedure which changed a witness into a defendant.

The Coast Guard officer declared the Paulding was not sent out to ram the S4, a statement apparently made in answer to inferences drawn from the attitude of the court, and added that if the Navy Department had notified the Coast Guard of the operations of the submarines, the business of chasing rum runners would have been suspended.

Adjournment was obtained immediately after a recess following the surprise move of the court in making Lieutenant Commander Baylis, who was testifying as a volunteer witness, a defendant.

RULING IS SHOCK.

The surprising announcement was made by Rear Admiral R. H. Jackson, after the commander of the Paulding had testified the only time he ever saw a submarine operating submerged was at the time of the collision with the S4.

The ruling caused considerable confusion, and a question arose as to whether it was a naval procedure, Admiral Jackson answering as reasons was declared, that it was perfectly proper and regular.

When court resumed at 2 o'clock, Commander Reinburg was not present, and after a fifteen-minute wait, Lieutenant-Commander Baylis informed the court he was without counsel, and with permission would endeavor to find him.

Five minutes later the missing officer rushed into court, almost out of breath, and asked for an adjournment until Monday in order that he might prepare his client's case.

After the request had been granted, Commander Reinburg met the newspaper men, and in reply to their questions as to the cause of the delay, said:

HUNTS FOR HIS CHIEF.

"I have been trying to get into communication with Rear Admiral Frederick C. Billard, head of the Coast Guard, at Washington. We have nothing to conceal. We want to know what our standing is here. We want to know what it is all about. We want an opportunity to study that navy procedure which changes a witness into a defendant.

"Our work is to police the waters of the North American coast. The President orders me to be a marine policeman and I can't dodge the job.

"Well, gentlemen, the Paulding didn't go out to ram the submarine. I didn't send her out to ram it. If the Navy Department had notified the police patrol that their submarines were operating there, God knows we would not have been near the place.

NO CIVILIAN COUNSEL.

"We would have suspended all our rumchasing operations and let all your Christmas liquor come in. The slimy job of shooting rum runners was handed to us and we can't duck it."

As if he would obtain the services of acivilian lawyer, Commander Reinburg replied

"No, I guess we won't need any."

After replying to questions regarding his familiarity with the operation of submarines in the North Atlantic, Lieut.-Com. Baylis was asked:

"Have you ever seen any submarines operating submerged in this area?"

"Not until the time we had the collision with the S4, when she emerged suddenly under our bow," was the answer.

At the reply, Admirals Jackson and Latimer conferred in whispers. Admiral Jackson then interrupted proceedings to tell the witness:

"The court wishes to notify you that the evidence you have just given relative to the collision of the S4 with your vessel, changes your status from a witness to that of a defendant."

There was an immediate hubbub in the courtroom.

"INVOLVES WHOLE GUARD."

Commander Reinburg asked that the court specify the testimony on which it had been decided to cite the witness as a defendant, and the judge advocate made the same request. At the request of the president of the court, the stenographer was asked to read the question. Commander Reinburg interrupted.

"Since you are making Lieutenant-Commander Baylis as a defendant," he said, "I ask the court for time."

Admiral Jackson suggested he wait until the question was read. The stenographer read the question, in which the judge advocate had asked the witness what knowledge he had of submarines operating submerged in these waters.

After the answer was given there was a general discussion, which ended when Commander Reinburg asked for a day's delay. He said the action of the presiding officer had seriously changed the status of Lieutenant-Commander Baylis.

"It involves the entire Coast Guard," Commander Baylis said.

Admiral Jackson asked if there were any more Coast Guard witnesses.

"Not if I have been named defendant," Commander Baylis replied

"You are the only witness concerned," was the admiral's retort.

LOG IN EVIDENCE.

"It involves the whole Coast Guard as I see it," said Baylis.

Commander Baylis said he had no objection to appearing on the stand in any capacity, and stating the facts.

Just before recess, Admiral Jackson said his decision was a normal naval proceeding, and was not novel. It was explained that Commander Baylis' admission he was in command of the Paulding placed him in the role of defendant automatically.

"Whose duty was it to scrutinize vessels?" he was asked.

"The officer on the deck," was the reply. He explained it was the duty of the officer of the deck to identify each vessel when the destroyer passed.

Lieutenant Commander Baylis was then asked to produce the log of the Paulding, and Judge Advocate Bratton suggested that extracts of the log be taken and introduced as evidence.

Lieutenant-Commander Doyle, representing the dead crew of the submersible, objected, contending the log itself should remain as evidence. Then ensued a ten-minute argument, at the conclusion of which Lieutenant-Commander Reinburg, commander of the Thornton Coast Guard Destroyer Division, said he had no objections to the log remaining.

bringing them up shortly before noon.

Three other divers then were prepared to descend with the expectation of finding more bodies in the same compartment.

The bodies were transferred to the tender Bushnell pending the arrival later in the day of the destroyer Maury which will take them back to Boston for removal to the Chelsea naval hospital for identification.

Somerville Diver in S4 Salvage Work

Joseph H. Stanley, former navy diver and navy torpedo man, of No. 105 Orchard street, Somerville, has been ordered to Provincetown by Admiral Brumby for salvage work in the S4. Stanley volunteered his services to the navy at the time of the S4 disaster. He was expected to be of great benefit in rescuing bodies of the other victims of the collision.

Identify Four More Bodies Taken From S4

Washington, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—The bodies of four taken from the S4 yesterday were identified today as those of Lieutenant-Commander William F. Callaway, Chevy Chase, Md.; Fred Henry O'Shields, Atlanta, Ga.; Carl Harold Thompson, San Francisco, and James Johnson White, Rockmart, Ga.

Demands Congress Honor M'Millan and Henson

Washington, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—More than a decade after they participated in Peary's discovery of the North Pole, plans have been inaugurated in Congress, by Rep. Kelly (R.), Pennsylvania, to grant some award, probably medals, to members of the expedition.

The late Admiral Peary received a medal of honor from Congress, Kelly said, but his subordinates went unrecognized. Donald MacMillan, who is now engaged in Arctic exploration, was one of the members of the expedition. Another was Matthew Henson, a negro, of New York, who had the distinction of being the only one of the crew to stand with Peary at the pole.

N. E. FIRM BUYS LAMP PLANT

More than 2,000,000 electric incandescent lamps, heretofore made in the Middle West each year, will from now on be manufactured in one New England factory.

This evidence of New England enterprise results from the purchase, announced today, of a large, going concern in Indianapolis by a Salem firm whose production is already 50,000 lamps daily.

All manufacturing of the purchased company, the Triumph Lamp Company, will be transferred from Indianapolis to the Salem plant of the purchasers, the Hygrade Lamp Company, which has more than doubled its production in ten years and has previously bought out four non-New England concerns.

By reason of the latest acquisition, the production will be increased to nearly 65,000 lamps daily, all at the factory in Salem, where, in keeping with progressive New England spirit, a large research department is constantly at work on new developments.

next tide, engineers worked frantically to build temporary barricades at places where the embankment collapsed.

Four sisters, daughters of a workman named Harding, were drowned. Four other children, trapped with them, were saved by the miner.

At Moseley, sailboats were navigating the streets, while at Malden Mead the unemployed were reaping a rich harvest rescuing derelict automobiles from the flood waters. Punts were plying for hire like taxicabs ferrying people about town.

The lowlying part of East London from the Tower bridge to Limehouse and the Isle of Dogs was a scene of desolation. The streets in the tenement districts were flooded from one to four feet deep and electric lights failed.

The flood swept over the Tower of London grounds and filled the moat with fifteen feet of water.

ROOSEVELT FLAYS SMITH; MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR

New York, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a swing about New York City, delivered four addresses in which he attacked Tammany Hall and the administration of Governor Smith.

No previous announcement of the tour had been made, and in political circles it was interpreted that he was a prospective candidate for governor, an office for which he was once defeated by Governor Smith.

FRANCE LIMITS TREATY TO END WAR

Washington, Jan. 7 (I.N.S.)—France has been informed that its counter proposition for a renunciation-of-war treaty is unacceptable to the United States in its present form.

Officials here have found the French suggestion that only "aggressive" wars be renounced is in direct conflict with Secretary Kellogg's original suggestion.

In making public the text of the French note today the State Department said it would frame another communication on the subject within a few days, setting forth anew its views on the proposed treaty.

While the United States has not given France a final answer, Ambassador Claudel has been told that the "aggressive war" suggestion is virtually worthless from an American point of view.

He was informed, however, that the suggestion would be given serious consideration in the hope that some sort of compromise can be arrived at between the two governments.

Ah, Domestic Science?

In "Her Cardboard Lover," coming Monday to the Plymouth, Jeanne Eagels has a rather remarkable maidservant. Referring to an errant husband, Miss Eagels asks: "Do you think he still loves me?" And the good maid replies, "I don't see why Madame should be any exception to the general rule."

STAGE AND SCREEN

And Still Marching on!

Louise Besudet, who plays Mrs. Hunter in "My Maryland" at the Shubert, was in the first opera company seen at the old Castle Square Theatre (now the Arlington, if you must know), which was built and managed by the late Henry W. Savage, who started his career in opera at that house.

JOYOUS FOLLIES TRIP BACK TO TOWN---TWO NEW DRAMAS MORE SEDATELY FOLLOW

HER CARDBOARD LOVER" seems to be a person of some substance with Jeanne Eagels, who returns Monday to the Plymouth in this new play. Anthony Bushnell is the gentleman of favor.

HELEN BROWN, on glorified display in Mr. Ziegfeld's returning Follies at the Colonial, suggests the question does Ziggy pick the beauties or do the beauties come to Ziggy. Figure it out yourself.

CRINOLINE DAYS and moments musical are rediscovered in "My Maryland" at the Shubert. Edith Rose Scott and Robert Rhodes are here engaged in a great Civil War, and will sing it out to the last ditch.

BETH MERRILL comes Monday evening to the Hollis in Mr. Belasco's newest adventure in modern dramaturgy called briefly, "Hidden."

AND IN THIS CORNER, Charlie Rogers and Clara Bow, the personable film children who bring the World War to a successful conclusion in "Wings," aviation spectacle at the Tremont.

MURDER RECEDES; DRAMA REFORMS

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

As one of the bright young men associated with the theatre remarked yesterday, crime along the Rialto appears to be diminishing, with mystery passing into decline. While you may not take so broad a view of the situation as that suggested by John Montague, who, in the eternal interest of Jeanne Eagels and "Her Cardboard Lover," asks you to believe that merriment is now substituting for murder, it is a fact, nevertheless, that the forthcoming week at the playhouses will show a decided falling off in gun-play with intent to kill. You may be sure, however, there will be a general cropping out of theatrical sin to relieve any threatened monotony of virtue back of the curtain.

THE faded playgoer expects to have his ups and his downs. His dilemma of the past two weeks has been bloody and futile assassination, but there is relief within easy reach. With the departure of "The Letter," "Cock Robin," "Out of the Night" and "The Ghost Train" here remains only "The Spider" to play havoc with your nerves. "The Spider" survives because of its great wealth of theatrical novelty, for nowhere else in the theatre of this generation has a dignified spectator of the drama been shot dead while arguing the ethics of the profession with a magician. An incident like this is bound to stir some kind of a rumpus—and it does.

IT is one of those saucy French comedies which sends Jeanne Eagels back to these regions for the first time since she practiced many sinful arts in the temptuous "Rain." She's a nicer girl this time, but still very pert and obviously open to suspicion. As comedies of domestic disorder come and go it must be conceded that the Frenchman applies a daintier, if not taintier, touch to social misbehavior than his brother dramatists of other and colder climates. Frankly, these flippant concoctions from Paris show virtue, when it really exists, as being gorgeously rampant, and sin just deliciously intriguing. Which probably explains the vogue of French farce, or comedy—or what have you.

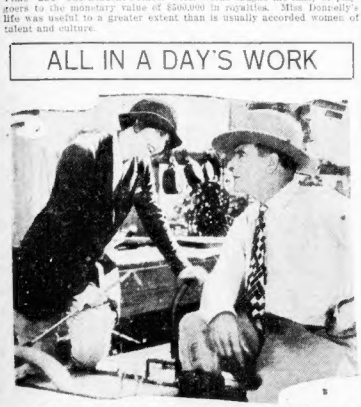
DOROTHY DONNELLY, an actress of yesterday, is dead. Miss Donnelly was no unmarked figure as she trod the stage of a decade or more ago; her name and her talents were known to thousands and always she was certain of hearty welcome wherever the vagaries of the booking offices may have dispatched companies in which she appeared. Dorothy Donnelly was a talented actress and retired while the paths were still rosy and her achievements complete. But she did not remain idle. She began writing for the stage and found new triumphs awaiting. She wrote the book for a half dozen musical comedy successes, among them "My Maryland," now at the Shubert Theatre; "Blossom Time" and "The Student Prince." Her works caught the fancy of playgoers to the monetary value of $500,000 in royalties. Miss Donnelly's life was useful to a greater extent than is usually accorded women of talent and culture.

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK



JUST REAL PALS, and things like that, are Doris Kenyon and Milton Sills. They are the modern lumber jack and jill in Peter B. Kyne's "The Valley of the Giants," showing at the Fenway today.

Fair Suspect

GERMAINE GIROUX, incredibly enough, manages to cast suspicion on herself in the mysterious "The Spider" at the Majestic.

JOB FOR ALL IN 'SPIDER'

Albert Lewis and Sam H. Harris were worrying. Included in the sundry troubles they were enjoying upon preparing "The Spider," now at the Majestic, was the unexpected and poetically unforeseen problem of requiring more actors and actresses than a Jerseyite needs mosquito netting.

In the days when casting was begun for "The Spider," it was discovered that the thespians were not to be found in as abundant quantities as they are today. This aroused quite embarrassing because Messrs. Lewis and Harris couldn't really have a play without a cast, could they?

There appeared just one way out of the dilemma: the abnormal quantity of actors were needed for the important roles in which the playwrights term as "the mob" or "the crowd." Mr. Lewis asked why not utilize the stage hands, the electricians, the porters and the valets and maids of the stars?

It seemed so simple that its efficacy was doubtful. Who ever thought when a playwright includes characters such as stage hands, electricians, etc., in his script, that a producer would take real flesh-and-blood stage hands and make actors out of them? It was a departure from precedent, not if neglected to seriously disturb Messrs. Harris and Lewis.

Fresh Honors for Newton Novelist-Prima Donna

Directors of the Ann Arbor, Mich., festival here just engaged Dorothy Newton, novelist-soprano, as featured soloist at their coming May festival.

Miss Newton is scheduled for a solo concert at Symphony Hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 18, at which time her many New England friends and hundreds of readers of "Images of the Dark," and other novels which she has written, will have their first opportunity to observe the Newton "wonder-girl" in the surroundings of the new career to which she has so successfully stepped.

Looking Ahead

JANUARY 23—

Greenwich Village Follies at the Shubert.

Ray Dooley in "Sidewalks of New York" at the Colonial.

Jane Cowl in "The Road to Rome" at the Wilbur.

Holbrook Blinn in "The Play's the Thing" at the Plymouth.

NEXT WEEK'S NEW BILLS

PLYMOUTH—Jeanne Eagels in "Her Cardboard Lover," a comedy from the French by Jacques Deval. Adaptation by Valerie Wyngate and P. G. Wodehouse. A comedy of domestic infelicity which at times borders on farce. In the supporting cast are Barry O'Neil, Anthony Bushnell, C. Edwin Brandt, MacKenzie Ward, Virginia Chanvenet, William Eville, Walter Scott and Phillip Jones. Produced by Gilbert Miller and A. H. Woods.

HOLLIS—"Hidden," play by William Hurlbut. The story concerns the lives of three members of an American household and is a psychological study of human nature and human passions. Featured in the cast are Beth Merrill and Phillip Merivale; other players are Mary Morris, Marjorie Gateson and Mary Wall. Produced by David Belasco.

COLONIAL—Ziegfeld Follies, with Eddie Cantor. Music and lyrics by Irving Berlin; sketches by Harold Atteridge and Eddie Cantor; dances by Sammy Lee and settings by Joseph Urban. In the cast, besides Mr. Cantor, are Frances Upton, Irene Delroy, Ruth Etting, Lora Foster, Helen Brown, Harry McNaughton, Dan Healy and the Three Boos Sisters. Of course, the glorified American girl is plentifully present. Produced by Florenz Ziegfeld.

COPLEY—"Clean Hands," a play by Ian Hay. Already has tested the taste of Copley audiences and found it friendly. The leading role is taken by Gaby Fay; others in the cast are May Ediss, Rupert Lucas, Norman Cannon, Elspeth Dudgeon, David Clyde, Ralph Roberts and Victor Beecroft. Staged by E. E. Clive.

* * *

ST. JAMES—(Stock) "Craig's Wife," a play by George Kelly. The dramatic story of a woman who believes that security rather than love is the true reason for marriage and looks upon a husband as a necessary evil. The principal parts are taken by Clara Joel, Walter Gilbert and Mary Hill. Staged by Charles Schofield.

ARLINGTON—Emmett Moore and his Irish Minstrels in a musical venture called "A Night in Ireland." Assisting Mr. Moore in songs, dances and witticisms are Jack Olcott, Eileen O'Dare and a chorus of sprightly colleens. A motion picture with Irish setting, "Where the River Shannon Flows," is a feature. Produced by the Gaelic Amusement Company.

THE HARRIED HUSBAND

HUSBAND is forced to spend a great deal of money and much thought upon an errant wife who wants to "express herself" in "French Dressing," a bit of film sophistry at the Washington Olympia.

Out in Front

GABY FAY again resumes her leading lady status at the Copley in Ian Hay's new play, "Clean Hands," on Monday.

'HIGH HAT' AT THE GAYETY

When Billy Gilbert established a franchise on the Columbia Wheel for this season he evidently determined to make his "High Hat Revue," coming next week to the Gayety, an offering that would constitute a mark for other burlesque producers to aim at. Going to George H. Stoddard and Vivian Crosby for his book and lyrics, Gilbert forthwith turned to Anatol Yam for a skit, a commission to build out points of production of the Stoddard-Yam written scenario, number of musical comedy successes, including "Listen Lester!" and "China Rose." Miss Crosby has turned out to end of musical offerings that have been hits on Broadway and also knows for many Broadway Producers, including Earl Carrol and Ann Nichols.

Dolly Ashton

If effort and good purpose counts, "High Hat Revue" should delight all comers through its novel conceptions of songs, scene and story. Dolly Ashton, George Murray, Eddie Lloyd, Monte and Billy Baier, Ann Scott and Belle Barron will be in Billy Gilbert's support.

CADMAN COMING

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, well known to all radio listeners, is to come to Boston and give his first lecture in Symphony Hall. His visit will take place on Wednesday evening, February 1st, and has been arranged under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Girls Clubs. "The Uses of the Imagination" will be the subject of his lecture.

Film Futures

JANUARY 14—

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in "Wife Savers" at the Metropolitan.

JANUARY 15—

Norman Kerry in "The Irresistible Lover" at the Keith-Albee Boston.

"The Gorilla" with Charlie Murray at the Olympia and Fenway.

BELASCO IN DISCOURSE ON FAME

"There is much discussion of the term 'success' in these mad, hurrying days of ours; likewise criticism of those who merely plod along their humdrum way, buying a home, raising a family—doing little or nothing to create a ripple in the pond we call 'life,'" declares David Belasco, producer of "Hidden," at the Hollis Monday.

"For a moment let us stop to consider what success really is," he continues. "Is it the act of amassing great riches? I do not believe so. Is it some outstanding act for the public good which makes one man or group of men more noted than the other millions? Possibly, but if no such success still does not provide a sane measure of achievement.

"What constitutes real success is doing some one thing, no matter how lowly, just a little to the best that any one else can do it. Edison could not have achieved his wondrous fame if there were not successful toilers fabricating the materials he used in his inventions. Ruth St. Denis would lose much of her scintillating triumph were it not for her musicians and the rhythmic, sonorous accompaniment they provide. Even the orchestra would be a failure if each of the musicians was not successful in his chosen line. All human progress is dependent on the work of others."

Special Sunday Music at Metropolitan Tomorrow

A new addition to Sunday afternoon musical programs will be inaugurated tomorrow at the Metropolitan Theatre, where an hour of chamber music will be presented at 3 o'clock, preceding the regular theatrical performances and screen attractions. The newly formed orchestra, which is to be known as the Metropolitan Salon Ensemble, will be under the direction of Arthur Wilson.

The program announced is "Merry Wives of Windsor," Otto Nicolai; "Habanera," Emmanuel Chabrier; cello solo by Karl Zeise; Largo from "New World Symphony," Dvorak; vocal solo, and other string quartet selections. The string quartet will be composed of the following: Frank Macdonald, first violin; Peter Badge, viola; Henry Silberman, second violin; Karl Zeise, cello.

FANNIE WARD IN FANCIED FLIGHTS

Asked by the Boston Evening American to write a few cheerful words about the coming of the personal stage star, Fannie Ward, to the Metropolitan today, and observing that the lady is billed as the "eternal flapper," or words to that effect, the youthful dean of the theatre appears to have given free rein to his fancy. This sketch of Fannie Ward is, of course, a good humored exception.

Having contracted a dreadful cold, resulting from exposure while watching Washington prepare for his trip across the Delaware, Fannie Ward accompanied by Missy Pitcher, went to Florida during the rest of the Winter and returned North just in time to witness the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. Benjamin Franklin was also very keen about the little Ward girl and said her many compliments. When the first blast of war echoed from Fort Sumpter, true to her fighting spirit, Fannie cancelled her picture contract and joined the Federal forces as correspondent for the Ladies Home Journal.

Fannie Ward

Days passed quickly now and bring her down to comparative recent times. In 1882 she was given a birthday party by Rose Tweed at Tammany Hall, and fourteen guests were overcome from the heat of the candles on her birthday cake.

Today Fannie is still young. She admits 65 years, but Roy Champion Andrews, who scoured Asia for fossils of primitive and prehistoric specimen of animal life, says he saw announcements inscribed in stone tablets heralding the appearance of Miss Ward in Mesopotamia early in the twelfth century. However, the present agent of the Metropolitan Theatre, where she is now playing, indignantly denies this impudent allegation.

SO THIS IS RUSSIA!

LIMNED against this fetching background are Dorothy Sebastian and Greta Garbo, seen in the film of Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina," which is called simply "Love" at Loew's Orpheum.

Rattling the Skeleton

Phil Ryley, of the returning Ziegfeld Follies, is a brother of Thomas W. Ryley, famed as the producer of "Floradora." When that classic of the musical comedy stage played the Colonial twenty-seven years ago, Phil capered about as the magnificently comical Tweedlepunch.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Well, He Won His Point

E. E. Clive of the Copley, whose after dinner bon mots are now noted on both sides of the ocean, tells this one: "Did you give your wife that economy lecture we were discussing?" "Yep." "Any results?" "Yep. She and I went into the matter and I'm going to give up smoking."

GLOWING COMEDY AND BROODING MYSTERY SHARE ALIKE IN FIRST RUN FILMS

IN "LONDON AFTER MIDNIGHT Lon Chaney puts Conrad Nagel to sleep and then goes about disguised as a tram car, or something (Loew's State).

IN THE TOILS of "The Forbidden Woman" is Joseph Schildkraut. This film stars Jetta Goudal (seen above), and it all happens in connection with the great open spaces of Morocco, where men are menaced. (New Boston).

LOOKS LIKE GRAND OPERA, but we are assured that this is a scene from "Old San Francisco," with Dolores Costello and Joseph Swickard (Metropolitan).

THAT WORRIED LOOK on the countenance of Harrison Ford is occasioned by Marie Prevost as "The Girl In the Pullman." Perhaps this scene takes place in the diner and Harrison can't pay the check (Modern and Beacon).

THE FINGER OF SUSPICION, celebrated in song and story, is prettily directed at Lewis Stone by Jane Winton in "Lonesome Ladies," a marital comedy of gals and gallivantin', at the Scollay Square Olympia.

HEROES THAT LIVE LONG AND PROSPER

By LEO GAFFNEY.

IN the movies the hero must not die, as everybody knows. He leads a charmed and altogether monotonous existence. In every breath-to-breath struggle with the villain you always know who will be flung over the cliff and who will remain to get the necessary girl. Because the heroine is generally of the same immortal nature it is a rare film that will deliberately allow its leading lady to do any dying, however glorious, for the cause of art. As "The Forbidden Woman" at the Keith-Albee Boston next week, Jetta Goudal will fade with the finale in the smoke of a firing squad. In similarly ignoble manner was Greta Garbo eliminated during the last few inches of "Flesh And The Devil."

THERE are reasons for these aesthetic erasures. And one of them is that our little sister and brother fans in Europe are threatening to quit cold on the same old chestnut all the time, the happy ending. So the Hollywood manufacturers, with their best wealth-to-please resolutions, have started to do something about it. Taste must be cultivated, you know.

* * *

BUT to begin all at once and wither every well-nourished cheek with streaking tears will lose home patronage. Most American audiences are touchy on tragedy; they know the sugary ending for the fiddle-faddle that it is, but they are optimists and prefer to be with the winner. Realizing this, the good film fathers are reported to have made two wind-ups for Miss Garbo in "The Temptress," one for home consumption and the other for foreign elevation. The home edition was the same old treacle about all coming right through the power of love. The foreign version apparently had the nerve to go through with the story and show what the Temptress had coming to her.

THE gossipers also say that Miss Garbo was not at all pleased with the way happy endings were being tacked on to her sex dramas. Her characters were undoubtedly weakened by them and she simply would not stand for it, so there. In the meantime Jetta Goudal was fighting the same hydra-headed monster. Somehow, between them, they have gained their point for justifiable homicide and, what is more important there has been increasing favor for both in the box office.

ANOTHER fair sufferer in the films is Lois Wilson. Just because she happened to be the sweet-faced, typically starry-book heroine of "The Covered Wagon," Miss Wilson failed to see why she should continue in nothing but the Madame Sister roles. There were squabbles but she came out on top. That is why she is now putting on the "French Dressing" at the Olympia.

* * *

WITH such pleasant reforms in progress perhaps it will not be too much to expect that someday, in some way, somebody will find a way to polish off a few of the heroes. In "Twelve Miles Out" John Gilbert got his'n, in a way of speaking, but it was not made plain that he was really "dead." It was an exceedingly smart manner of handling an unpleasant situation.

WHAT'S WHAT

With Shows REMAINING

"My Maryland" at the Shubert. (Seventh week.) The Blue and the Gray fight it out over a stirring Romberg score.

"Wings" at the Tremont. (Fourth week.) The high flier of recent film specials. Showing wear at its best—and worst.

"Peggy-Ann" at the Wilbur. (Seventh week.) Rather fancy doings by Helen Ford—but it's all a dream

"The Spider" at the Majestic. (Third week.) In which the audience takes a hand and has a rattling good time.

Lucas, of Copley, Member of British Actor Family

Rupert Lucas, of the Clive company at the Copley, was born at Preston, Lancashire, England, and is a graduate of Westmoreland College. His first appearance was with the Manchester Guild at Manchester, England, during a presentation of "Romeo and Juliet."

Rupert Lucas

He has much inherited talent. His father, for more than 30 years on the English stage, and Henry Ainley, an uncle on his mother's side, were considered for years leaders of the dramatic art in Great Britain. Mr. Lucas is an accomplished singer and studied under Bonfemps, famous French instructor. He made his musical debut with Gerngoultre Filion in the "Secrets of Suzanne," and later appeared in "Yeoman of the Guard," a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

PICTURES AND VARIETY

BOWDOIN SQUARE — William Boyd in "Dress Parade"; Reginald Denny's "The Garden of Allah," and vaudeville headed by Evelyn Nesbit.

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque) Billy Watson and his "Flying Dutchman" revue. Also pictures and vaudeville.

HOWARD—"Band Box" revue with Anna Propp. Also pictures and vaudeville.

TALLEY CONCERT

Marion Talley will sing several famous operatic arias, together with light lyric and coloratura songs when she makes her Boston debut at a recital in Symphony Hall, on Sunday afternoon, January 22nd.

FLONZALEY CONCERT

The Flonzaley String Quartet will give its second concert of the season at Jordan Hall next Wednesday evening. Schubert's "Quartett-Satz" in C minor; Beethoven's C sharp minor quartet, and Hayden's quartet in C major, Opus 33, No. 3, make up the program.

RACHMANINOFF COMING

Serge Rachmaninoff, Russian pianist, will give a recital in Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, February 5th.

Meditations of a Movie Star

By EDDIE CANTOR,
Star of Ziegfeld Follies at the Colonial.

Many people wonder why Florenz Ziegfeld took me out of the movies. There is no mystery about it. Ziggy knew I was hanging out with Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Douglas Fairbanks and other billionaire film actors, and he wanted to save me from a bad case of salary poisoning. I will say this for the movies, however. I enjoyed my brief stay in pictures immensely, even though most of the people who carry megaphones should wear them on their heads instead. It is untrue that there are too many sub-titles in the movies. Most of them never get into the film because you can't repeat the sub-titles that are buried at you from the sidelines. Another thing, the fellow who called it the silent drama never attended a conference of film executives.

It feels great to be back East, though. When I was out on the Coast I used to think of the many friends I left behind me and wondered how they were getting along. I didn't have to worry, however. They are as prosperous as ever, with the help of their friends, and are still turning down big theatrical jobs. Boston has undergone a tremendous change. There are now two holes where only one was dug before. Taxi drivers, too, have suffered a transformation. When I was in Boston last there were just as many, only now they don't blow their horns when they creep up on you. This is a decided advantage to widows who owe the taxi drivers a debt of dying gratitude.

Eddie Cantor

Being in the new "Follies" feels no different from being in the movies. Three hundred thousand dollars went into the production and Ziggy spent the other two hundred thousand wiring me on the coast to come back to Broadway. If you movie fans want me back they'll have to give me a $500,000 production or I'll continue to depend on Ziegfeld's telegrams to boost the cost of "The Follies."

Manson Withdraws Entry in all Skating Contests

Day Manson, popular juvenile player at the Keith-Albee, St. James is "off" skating for life. It is not officially known where young Manson will look for gainful employment, but there is sufficient evidence that there WAS a gainful employment, and that it was very nearly as fatal as the one that jarred Humpty Dumpty. Some say the great fall occurred on the Brookline airport golf course, others, observing shattered goods in the lobby, somewhere on the Charles River, are equally positive as to the location of the grand slam. There was only one eye witness and all he will tell is that Mr. Manson gave an splendid an imitation of aunt airplaning as he ever expects to see. Mr. Manson's skates are probably for sale.

One Dozen Sheer Hose!

Five dozen pairs of the most picturesque feminine legs in Hollywood were needed to film "The Girl In The Pullman," at the Modern and Beacon. As Bill Whipple has often remarked, "No wonder travelling salesmen always seem to be so easy-going in their general outlook on life."

STAGE AND SCREEN

Wait! Age Before Duty

When Ignace Jan Paderewski comes to Symphony Hall on January 15, the noted pianist-statesman will be without his famous old negro Pullman chef, James Cooper. For twenty-five years Cooper has cooked exclusively for Paderewski on tour. His age now forces him to retire.

'MARYLAND' IS SHUBERTS' FAVORITE

"My Maryland," at the Shubert, the romantic operetta built around the story of Barbara Fritchie, heroine of the Civil War, is a sample of what length producers will go in order to create something that will meet the expectations of a modern audience.

"My Maryland" is one of the latest in the series of operettas produced during the past half dozen years by the Messrs. Shubert, each of which, beginning with "Maytime" and including "Blossom Time," "The Last Waltz," "Song of Songs," "Toe Student Prince," "Countess Maritza," "Princess Flavia," and "The Circus Princess" have been a great success. Every one of these productions, even the earliest of them, is still playing.

When it was decided to add another production to the musical playlist, the Messrs. Shubert wanted to do something that was different from what they had done before, yet wished to maintain the same high standard or better. They had in mind an operetta with an all American theme and American music, as most productions of this nature, heretofore, had been foreign in these respects.

Their search for a story idea finally ended in the selection of the patriotic incident of Barbara Fritchie's defying the Confederate troops by waving the American flag from a window of her home in Frederick, Md.

Jascha Heifetz to Give Recital Tomorrow

Jascha Heifetz will give his only recital in Boston this season at Symphony Hall tomorrow. For this his repertoire after two seasons absence the great young violinist has chosen the following program, in which he is assisted by Isidor Achron, pianist: Grieg's Sonata in C Minor for Violin and Piano; Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole"; Bach's "Chaconne"; Paganini's "Caprices" Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24; Roberts "Rondo"; Ravel's "La Fille aux Cheveux de Lin"; Debussy's "Pierrot"; Moszkowski's "Perpetuum Mobile," by Novacek; and Wieniawski's "Polonaise" by Paganini. Heifetz is still the supreme technician of his instrument. He is for many the "infant prodigy" of a few years ago, but instead, in the course of his years, may be rated with the maturest artists of the violin.

Scenarist for Lon Chaney Well Used to Mystery

Writing mystery drama comes second nature to Waldemar Young, scenarist of Lon Chaney's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "London After Midnight," which comes to Loew's State on Monday. The new picture, in which Chaney plays a Scotland Yard detective who solves an uncanny mystery in a haunted manor by the use of hypnotism, is an original story by Tod Browning, who directed it, assisted by Young, who worked with Browning on "The Unholy Three," "The Unknown" and other successes.

Young was a San Francisco newspaperman in his early days, and gathered such stories for the Examiner before murders, the Allenby case and others, so he knows his mystery drama from experience.

Evelyn Nesbit Appears On Stage at Bowdoin Sq.

Evelyn Nesbit, former stage and screen star, will make a personal appearance at the Bowdoin Square Theatre next week. It will be remembered that on her tenth Miss Nesbit was married to Harry Thaw, rites of the American aristocracy. Apart from her beauty she was also a dancer of exceptional ability for years, beside her work in motion pictures. Evelyn Nesbit toured Europe at the head of her own company and was, also, much admired in London as one of the foremost dancers of her day. Her appearance at the Bowdoin is part of an extended vaudeville tour of the country.

Leatrice Joy May Join Fox Forces

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—In three months Leatrice Joy's contract expires with Cecil de Mille. The reports are that she will celebrate the culmination of this agreement by moving to the Fox lot. Tis whispered that Leatrice will take the place left vacant when Olive Borden packed up her make-up box and traveled forth into the cold world.

I cannot see that Miss Joy can do anything else but go with another company. De Mille has had good pictures, but few of the good ones have starred Miss Joy. Incidentally the two have not seemed to form a very harmonious combination. When Miss Joy went with the de Mille company she was at the height of her popularity and was one of the best known stars on the screen.

That she still has her following speaks exceedingly well for her. All she needs to come back is a few good pictures and to wear her hair in the good old-fashioned way. Her boyish bob is too severe for her type. Maybe it sounds ridiculous to put so much stress on a lady's coiffure, but from all sides we hear "Why doesn't Leatrice Joy be herself and wear her hair in the old becoming style?"

Let's have some better stories for Leatrice, and let's have her back as she was during her Paramount days.

IRVING THALBERG is not only a good husband, but he is a good manager, as well. The other day, in a purchasing mood, he bought the screen rights to "Ballyhoo," Beth Brown's popular novel. Of course, I may be all wrong on my assumption that Irving had Miss Shearer in mind when he made the deal, but it just seems made for her, some way.

The story deals with a girl in a small Virginia town who has a fight with her fiance, meets a man playing an accordian in a carnival; she joins the carnival and from then on comes the action, as they say in the sub-titles.

THIS is a busy season for the youngsters. Dorothy Revier, the little brunette who played opposite Richard Bartholmess in "The Drop Kick," is going advertising. Papa Harry Cohn has given Dorothy permission to play over in the Fox yard for a little while—long enough, that is, to do one of the principal parts in "The Red Dancer of Moscow."

Dorothy, of course, is under contract to Columbia and has been a featured player for the past year. She is a cute little trick and I don't blame Fox for wanting to borrow her.

ARMAND KALIZ is apparently striving to rival Leonardo Da Vinci in versatility. Leonardo, as everyone knows, was to science as an all-around genius. But first, listen to Armand's activities. He directed "The Chocolate Soldier" on the stage, and after a career as a musical comedy star and producer, joined the ranks of smooth, but "nasty," screen villains.

Now he has been signed by Cohn to play the heavy in a screen adaptation of "Love o' Liane," in which he supports Betty Compson. Edwin Mortimer will direct. In order not to waste any time, Armand expects to dash off an original for Columbia before the picture goes into production. The story will be a Parisian drama based on the far-from-neglected problem of sex.

"WHO'LL be the next?" I mean what company will be next to announce to the palpitating public that they have discovered another comedy team? Paramount has the Beery-Hatton and Conklin-Sidds teams, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have Carl Dane and George K. Arthur, and now comes Universal, the latest to herald the forming of new team of this sort.

They feel they have the perfect combination in George Sidney and Albert Gran, the taxicab driver of "Seventh Heaven." Mr. Gran and Mr. Sidney did so well in "We Americans" for Universal that Carl Laemmle had no time in preparing to re-feature the two comedians in "Give and Take," which William Beaudine will direct.

CHRIS SUTHERLAND will direct "Quick Lunch," the next of C. Fields-Chester Conklin comedy. Eddie is a past master at the fine art of slide-splitting. He wielded the megaphone for the Beery-Hatton team with such hilarious results as "We're in the Navy Now," "Behind the Front," "Now We're in the Air" and others. Hence, credit for the direction of the year's best comedies goes to Eddie Sutherland.

Jeanne Eagels Outdoes Cohen on Telephone

In "Her Cardboard Lover," the sparkling comedy in which Jeanne Eagels is to appear Monday at the Plymouth, the famous young actress has a telephone scene which the audience never forgets. During this scene Miss Eagels is alone on the stage for fifteen minutes, with nothing more diverting than one of those attractive little French telephones. Into the end of which she speaks while listening at the other.

But so realistically does Miss Eagels carry on a conversation with her philandering husband that admirers have been known to visit the play more than once merely to experience the pleasure and amusement aroused by this one-sided dialogue.

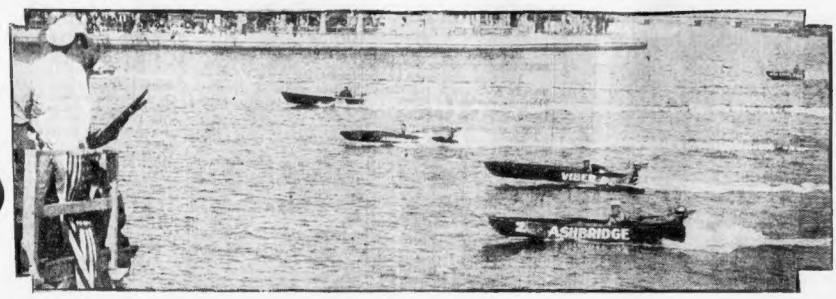
BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1928

SECOND SECTION

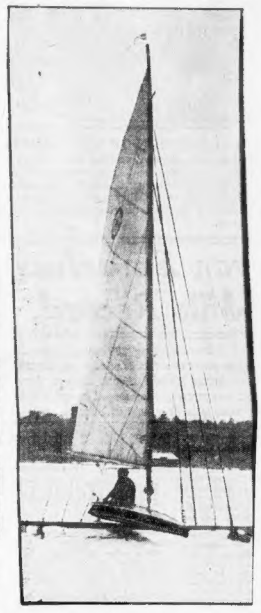
Boxing, Hockey and Track Keep Athletes Busy

TWO-FISTED SAILOR. Ernie Schaaf, who learned the rudiments of the ring game while employed by Uncle Sam as a "gob," will swap punches with King Solomon of Panama in the main bout of the Suffolk A. A. show at the Boston Arena Monday night. Ernie is out of voting age yet, and if he is brought along with care he should be a great fighter. (Staff photo.)



TUNING UP FOR SPEED CLASSIC. Photo shows some of the midget speedboats that will compete in the sweepstakes around Catalina Island, January 15. The contest will be conducted over a 45-mile course, and 40 of the country's fastest craft are being groomed for the race, the longest open ocean event ever attempted by such tiny boats. (All photos by International Newsreel.)

HIGH STEPPERS. This quartet of girl athletes represented the Polytechnic Ladies A. A. of London in a recent cross-country run staged in Perrivale. A fence means nothing in the life of a young English girl, as the photo shows. Wonder how our flappers would fare in this kind of competition. Nothing seems to be too strenuous for our modern girl. Watch out, men!



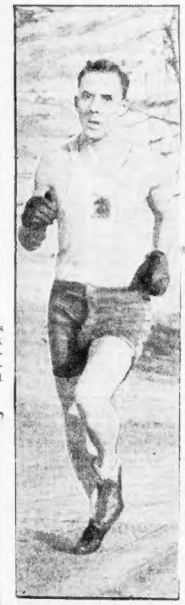
WHEN WINTER COMES here we may enjoy ice sailing as the Germans are at present. Photo shows one of the craft sliding along the ice on a beautiful moonlight night.

CHAMPIONSHIP of Central America will be defended by King Solomon in his bout with Ernie Schaaf at Tom Goodwin's fistic carnival at the Arena Monday evening. Solomon is one of the most colorful performers in the ring. The king has never won a fight in Boston, but he always puts up a great battle. (Staff photo.)

MECCA OF WINTER SPORT ENTHUSIASTS. St. Moritz, Switzerland, Europe's most famous Winter resort, is crowded with visitors from all parts of the world intent upon engaging in sport. Photo shows a hockey game between a local t and a London sextet. The Olympic figure skating and hockey competition will take place on this rink.

RECORD-BREAKER. Agnes Geraghty, famous New York mermaid, who clipped a second off the 200-yard backstroke mark in a recent meet in Bermuda.

H. PHILPAT, leading jockey at the Tia Juana track to date this season. Philpat, a youngster, makes up in ability for what he lacks in experience.



U. S. HOPE in Olympic middle-distance runs. Lloyd Hahn, star B. A. A. miler and holder of several world's records, who will open his 1928 campaign in the Knights of Columbus meet in New York tonight. (Staff photo.)

TRUDIE'S MARK GOES. Martha Norelius, who broke Gertrude Ederle's world's mark for the 500-metre-free style race in a recent meet at Bermuda. Martha clipped 1 2-5 seconds off the old figures. The meet was held under the auspices of the Bermuda Athletic Association at the St. George Hotel pool. Trudie's record was five years old.

PRO GOLF STARS OFF FORM

Only Three Players of 128 Competing Able to Equal Par for the Course

Los Angeles, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Professionals and amateurs entered in the $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament today turned to the second round of medal play with only three of the field of 128 able to equal par for the first 18 holes.

Favored by almost perfect weather, the youthful Dallas Jeffers of Riverside, Tommy Armour, National Open Champion, and Wild Bill Melhorn of Pittsburgh, yesterday scored 71's.

Abe Espinosa of Chicago, Ed Dudley, Hollywood flash, and Dye Coleman, Los Angeles, followed the three leaders with cards of 72 each. The 73 division was occupied by Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles, Mel Smith of Portland, Ore., Tony Manero of New York, and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Bobby Cruickshank of New York, defending champion, needed 73, as did Lewis Scott, Los Angeles, Clark Hamilton, Denver and Jack Tarrant and Lewis Scott, Los Angeles.

Others among the 94 to finish with cards of 80 or under included Billie Burke, New York, George von Elm, Los Angeles, 76; Joe Turnesa, New York, Eric Bannister, Winnipeg, and Angel De La Torre, Spain 77; Leo Diegel, New York, 78.

AN OLYMPIC SELECTION IS THE GOAL

Of all athletes and when the Harvard varsity crew plans to make fight for the right to represent this country in the next Olympic rowing championships it shows the Crimson men have faith in their own ability and the coaching capabilities of Ed Brown. This is a picture of Capt. Webb of the Harvard crew.

JONES REFUSES $50,000 HOUSE

New York, Jan. 7.—With a gesture of fine sportsmanship, Bobby Jones has declined to accept a $50,000 home, the gift of his Atlanta friends.

Bobby's statement was as follows: "In action of the United States Golf Association approving the gift to me of a home by my friends in Atlanta has been brought to my attention. This action confirms my understanding of the amateur rule. At the time the gift was tendered and accepted I had no thought that it was not entirely proper. I have since had opportunities to consider the matter carefully and have reached the conclusion that the interests of our great game will be best served if I do not retain the home.

"I am taking this action with due appreciation and gratitude to my friends for their generous expression."

The statement from the golf association given out by William C. Fownes, the president, read: "The executive committee has considered the proposed gift of a home to Robert T. Jones, Jr., by his friends in Atlanta and has fully investigated the facts. The executive committee has decided that the acceptance of the gift by him is not in violation of the association's rule governing amateur status."

TIGERS PLAY SPRINGFIELD

The Boston Tigers face another hard game tonight in Springfield when they play the Indians. The Springfield team is only three points behind the leaders and refuses to be shaken off.

The dashing game the Tigers played Thursday in Quebec proves that Eddie Powers has his men going at top speed. The whole Tiger squad will leave that noon for Springfield.

Harvard Ice Team Play McGill Tonight

New York, Jan. 7 (I.N.S.).—The winner of tonight's ice clash between Harvard and McGill will have a strong claim to the international intercollegiate hockey championship. Harvard, champion American title for the last two seasons, is generally favored to win it again this Winter over McGill, Canadian champion last year, is considered the strongest team in Canada again this season.

Veteran Smashes 100-Mile Record

London, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Running 100 miles, from Bear Hotel in Bath to Hyde Park Corner in London, in 44 hours, 22 minutes, 10 seconds, Arthur Newton, South African farmer, famous as a long distance runner, today staged one of the most extraordinary endurance tests ever held in Britain.

Newton beat the 100-mile amateur record of 14 hours 43 minutes, which he made on South African roads.

Newton started at 2 o'clock this morning, being paced by four British marathon runners, each covering 25 miles. He made the first seven laps in 49 minutes, going up hill and down practically all the way pace.

He covered 25 miles in two hours 53 minutes, 50 miles in 6 hours 41 minutes 18 seconds. He ran through several road closures of the floods and enthusiastic crowds in the latter part of the run, and at Headley appealed to the spectators to give him room. At Maidenhead the floods forced him to the elevated footpath. Newton is 45 years old.

A.-N. GAME IS DEFINITELY OFF

Annapolis, Mr., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—The Army-Navy football game for 1928 will not be played, it was announced at the Naval Academy today.

This decision was reached at a conference held at Washington today between Admiral Nulton, superintendent of the Naval Academy and General Wmans, superintendent of the West Point Military Academy.

The conference was described as lasting been of a friendly character but the two heads of the service institutions were unable to agree on the three-year eligibility rule and it was mutually agreed that the game be played next Fall.

Harvard Crew Aims for Olympic Selection

By JOE CASHMAN

Harvard plans to make a determined effort to get into the next Olympic rowing competition.

The Crimson athletic authorities are strong for Ed Brown, varsity crew coach, and if his 1928 boat makes a creditable showing during the regular season, it will be entered in the Olympic tryouts at Philadelphia in July.

The best college crews in the country will compete in the qualifying regatta and the Harvard eight must be far stronger than it promises to be at present to finish in front, but the Crimson followers are confident that Brown will produce a shell which will make the grade, especially if two crews are sent across this year, which seems likely now.

Coach Brown refuses to comment on the chance of the Harvard crew being named, at this early date. He promises to do everything in his power, though, to put a clever eight on the river this Spring and keep it in shape until the Olympic tryouts.

No idea of the strength of the crews of the Harvard can be had as secured until the big regattas late in the Spring, but Brown is convinced that at least two Harvard crews will have better-than-the-average boat and this season and that Harvard must have the greatest eight in its history to grab off the honor of representing Uncle Sam in the next Oympiad.

THE only reason for believing that Harvard has a chance to make the trip to Amsterdam is the record of Brown last year his first as head coach at Cambridge.

With five vacancies in the varsity boat looming up now, it is ilk, ackle Brown to perform a miracle to ask him to develop a championship crew in the space of a few months, but he did just that last year season.

Taking full command after serving as an assistant o various head mentors for nearly 6 years, Brown turned out a crew which took the measure of Yale and went through the season undefeated, except for a setback in the race at the hands of the crack Navy eight.

If he could do it in 1927, he can repeat in 1928, argue his friends.

All New England sport followers hope so, at any rate, for they want to see the Indian retain the Olympic honors Yale won for it in the 1924 race.

Incidentally, Yale, too, promises to enter the race for the honor of being sent to the Olympics. Coach Ed Leader has turned out a championship crew every year since going to New Haven to the exception of last season. He can be counted upon to put a formidable boat in competition this Spring.

Crimson followers, however, look upon the Yale race as good as won already.

Ed Brown also appears to be overlooking Yale as a possible obstacle in Harvard's path to Olympic glory. Navy, Columbia, Cornell, Penn and Washington are the crews he expects to find hardest to beat.

THREE of the five crews mentioned by Brown are on Harvard's regular schedule. Navy, Cornell and Penn. Also Yale.

The Crimson will face Cornell in a triangular race in which Tech will be the other crew on the Charles, May 5. A week later the Crimson oarsmen will match strokes with the Navy and Penn in a tri race at Philadelphia. The Yale race is listed for June 22 and will take place on the Thames at New London, as usual.

If Harvard is beaten badly by any of the opponents, it is not likely that it will enter the Olympic tryouts, but the Cambridge authorities believe that the only crew in the country will be able to beat the Crimson by a very wide margin.

The Navy looks like the best prospect at present, according to Brown. The "Middies" have side of the championship varsity crew of last season back, and also a freshman eight that went through 1927 undefeated, and on occasions bettered the time of the varsity.

If anything defeats the Navy, it will probably be the wealth of material Coach Dick Hannegan can't decide whether he should take enough men from the freshman boat to complete his varsity or to make the whole 1927 yearling crew his first-string entry.

COLUMBIA, winner of the Poughkeepsie regatta last year, is another crew that is sure to be among with seven veterans in the shell.

Penn, now that it has secured Rusty Callow as a mentor, must be taken into consideration as do Cornell and Washington, which are always represented by excellent eights.

The competition is bound to be keen, but with Harvard and Yale both determined to win the right to make the trip, New England's chances of representation in the Olympic rowing appear as good, if not better, than those of any section of the United States.

Lion vs Bull Battle on Mat Demanded

BY JACK CONWAY

PAUL BOWSER today ordered Joe Alvares, his right eye, to hire a flock of cops, chain up Stanley Stasiak and Bull Komar and drag them before him.

"The public demands that 16 match the Lion and the Bull for a finish wrestling bout," declared Bowser. "For more than two months the big fellows have kept the whole sporting public in riot squad working day and night. All I'd like to see the cops overworked and my efforts failing to insist that Stasiak and Komar mix out fighting on the streets and in the theatres and set the third fall in the ring."

"A fine idea, Paul," said the quiet Alvares. "It's about time you got wise to the fact that the Lion and the Bull have become a public menace and that they must be forced to settle their differences on the mat. I'd suggest, though, that if you make the match that you put a tremendous wire netting in the ring so as to prevent the grapplers from clawing the cash customers.

"Ah, the dear cash customers," said Bowser softly. "How they want to see the fight. Everybody at the feast is asking me when Stasiak and Komar are going to wrestle. The fans think I am a regular quitter shirking up a pair of wrestlers.

"All Stasiak and Komar have to do is agree to a couple of hammers into the ring with him, while the Bull says he will be satisfied if I am having to use an axe instead of horns. Meanwhile, Joe, nail the furniture down and don't want a single piece of my property damaged when the Lion and the Bull roll in."

Jack Conway

THE Stasiak-Komar feud is one of those things which pop up once about every three years to keep the original rough wrestler heroabouts. Then Komar dropped into town and let his name be linked merry time with the Lion.

Stasiak, a Bull junior roamed around the same pasture in peaceful fashion. One or the other must be defended.

Stasiak and Komar are experienced enough to realize this fact which is probably one of the reasons why they haven't been anxious to meet in the ring.

The defeated grappler will have to go back to small time. The victor will be the cock of the walk.

Naturally Bowser is anxious to sign up the pair as a box between them will mean the largest wrestling crowd of the season. There isn't a building in town large enough to care for those who want to see the Lion and the Bull break away from the barrier.

I hope Bowser is successful today. If he does fans, I'm tired of all this talking. Let's have some red hot wrestling instead.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT GARKAWIENKO will be the feature attraction back at the Grand Opera House on next Thursday night.

Garke, as the fans like to call him, is the most colorful wrestler ever to appear in Boston. He has a wonderful personality and does things in a little bit different than any one else does them.

He has met defeat but twice here and then at the hands of Strangler Lewis and Joe Malcewicz.

He is matched to meet Jiovanni Vargarini, Italian sensation, who has yet to meet defeat here in Boston. Vargarini was the first man to admi ster a defeat to Mike Nazarian in a similar contests.

Mike Nazarian will appear on the semi-final, meeting Charlie West, a touch New Yorker, in a one-fall match.

Tony DeVito, sensational Italian wrestler, who is just breaking into the game, will meet Captain Saleh emphian, in a

Ned McGuire will o / he show with a one-fall contest with Jake Shaffer.

B. C. HIGH SIX TIES LATIN AT ARENA

Boston Latin School's sextet, leader in the Mosher Glory circuit and undefeated to date, met its match at the Arena this morning, when Boston College High held the Purple to a 1 to 1 tie.

The Back Bay six had run roughshod over all other opponents, and the Eaglets were expected to prove easy victims. Instead, Latin was lucky to win. McEachern caging the tieing goal just 40 seconds before the final whistle sounded.

The second game on the card between Charlestown and Trade School also ended in a 1 to 1 tie.

The first decision of the morning went to Mechanic Arts, which turned back Brighton, 1 to 0.

After these three games, followed a trio of surprises. First, East Boston held Dorchester to a scoreless tie. Then South Boston gave English many anxious moments before the Blue and Blue won, 1 to 0. And finally Commerce broke into the win column for the first time this season by taking Hyde Park into camp, 2 to 0.

With three of the six games ending in a tie and but eight goals being scored by twelve teams, it would appear as though the fast an hawl to score in school hockey as it is in the professional game.

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

Another form of destructive worry among golfers is the form of nervousness a player can cause himself by constantly questioning his ability to be a sour one, and right away the iron he used is too flat, or too upright, or something else. He dubs a drive, and instantly he decides the grip on that club must be thin or too thick. Worrying about all the phases of the clubs is a very good golf idea, because that player should rid himself of. Often such golfers have a "favorite" club. They feel they make fine shots with it. The truth of this is, they have finally made up their minds that that one club is all right and thus, believing entirely free from worry about it, they make fair shots with it. The same rule could be applied, if they willed, to all the other clubs, and a big golf worry would take leave of them forever.

Harrington Unfairly Treated in Hockey

By BILL GRIMES

In the Harrington case, hockey has run afoul of a hornet's nest. It is one of the finest exhibitions of "passing the buck" professional sport has displayed in years. However, the parties most interested have managed to agree on one thing and that is that the other fellow is all wrong.

Hago Harrington is the "buck." He is in the process of being passed from the New Haven club to the Bruins, then to Providence, which club plans to ship him out to the Canadian Professional League.

The Harrington controversy is due to the demand of the player for an increase in salary. Had the Montrose boy agreed to the terms offered him when he came up from the New Haven club just before Christmas, peace, instead of war, would now be reigning.

However, Harrington felt that he was entitled to more money for playing in the National Hockey League than he received in the minors. There is nothing unfair with such a belief. Where is the percentage in playing with a team which plays and encounters the type of hockey of the Bruins for the same money paid by New Haven? Also, Harrington demanded a written agreement as to the bonus. That is business.

CLAIMS HE DIDN'T SIGN.

When Harrington stated under what terms he would sign up with the Boston club, he was not only turned down cold but informed that if he did not sign he would be "sold down the river."

Although Harrington came here and talked business with Manager Ross he did not admit that he was the property of the Bruins. He claims that he did not receive a contract from the Bruins this season, much less sign one. And, according to the constitution of the National Hockey League, clubs must send contracts by registered mail to all of their players before November 15.

In the statement sent out by President Calder of the N. H. L. no mention is made of Harrington having a contract with the Bruins. He was turned over to the Bruins because on December 23 Morris Dolloff signed an agreement with the Bruins allowing the Boston owner to recall any loaned players. This agreement was signed two days after Harrington had left the New Haven club to talk business with Manager Ross here. It has no bearing on the Melrose boy's status in the two-way argument. Harrington returned to New Haven, but he did not play with the Eagles against the Bulldogs on Christmas Day. Neither did he return to the Bruins for the Ranger game, but he did play against the Tigers and was mainly responsible for the New Haven victory.

If Harrington had been recalled by the Bruins, why was he allowed to play right on returning to New Haven? According to President Clapp, the Canadian American pearler has not been recalled that Harrington belonged to the Bruins and therefore he was eligible.

HE'S BOSS WAS TOLD.

Following immediately upon Calder's decision, the Bruins sold Harrington's contract to Providence. Now despite the fact that the Bruins claim they knew of no ruling in the Can-Am League which prohibited a recalled player from rejoining any club in that league during the same season he was recalled, Manager Art Ross was informed as to Harrington's status.

In the presence of Morris P. Dolloff, Don Smith and Billy Coutu, of New Haven, and Tom Ramaly, secretary of the Can-Am League, Ross was told that Harrington could not be sent back to New Haven once he was brought back to the Bruins.

However, in the face of Clapp's decision, Harrington was sent to Providence, and even before President Clapp was notified by the owners of the Rhode Island Reds that they had bought Harrington, it was announced that Harrington was on his way to the Canadian Professional League. That's pretty fast work.

Harrington has been made the "goat." To force Harrington to leave this country to seek out an existence is hockey law at its most injustice. He is a Greater Boston boy and one of the very few American born players in professional hockey. His wife is in poor health and would be unable to withstand the weather in Canada.

The fact that the announcement of the sale of Harrington to Providence was accompanied by a statement that Billy Coutu and Nobby Clark had been sold outright to the Eagles by the Bruins does not set well with the fans, who are asking "Did Dodolf 'play ball' with Adams?"

The supposition being that Harrington was traded by Dodolf to the Bruins for Coutu and Clark.

The news that the Bruins had taken over New Haven as a "farm" might be called the belief most prevalent among the followers of hockey.

IZZY ZARAKOV TO HEAD BIG CHAIN OF BOYS' CAMPS

Isadore "Izzy" Zarakov, 24 years old, son of immigrants, former Harvard athletic star and baseball captain and coach for two months at college, is to be head of a $1,000,000 chain of boys' camps.

This latest addition to the laurels of the Cambridge youth was made three days ago in N. Y. City after conference with Irving C. McColl of New York city and East Harpswell Me., owner of the boys' camps and who is understood to be the main investor in the project.

The plan is to establish a chain of 10 camps in the East and Middle West each representing an investment of at least $100,000 and modelled along the lines of Zarakov's camp at Long Lake, Harrison, Me.

NEWARK TILT NOW FACING WOODSIES

By BILL McAULEY

The Woodsies left last night for New York to play an exhibition game with Brooklyn at Hawthorn Park Arena. They clash with the Skeeters of Newark tomorrow in the most important game of their career.

Pocketed in a triple tie with Bethlehem and New Bedford for the first half of the Southern title and each having but a single game to play, the locals will surely band every effort to prove victorious over the New Jersey eleven

FACE STIFF HURDLE.

In tackling the Skeeters at Newark the Woodsies have a stiff hurdle to surmount as they are a team that has caused the locals no end of trouble in previous campaigns.

The Blue and Gold have yet to gain a convincing triumph in the Garden State Jersey city. Season the Hub team scraped through in its first visit there, but went down to defeat a few weeks later at Newark, and the Hub players admit a lucky escape in the game's last stanza appearance at Davids Stadium this season.

The Blue and Gold, however, are travelling at their best at present, and providing they display anything like they have been showing they should be as easy winner.

USE SECOND STRINGERS.

In the game with Brooklyn, a second string goal will be used. Manager Jimmy McDonald being averse to taking chances with his regulars on the eve of such an important game as the Newark contest.

While the locals are clashing with Brooklyn, the Whalers, one of the co-leaders, will be fighting their way to the New York Giants title race in New York, and it would not surprise me if the Whalers were put out of the running by the Starlight Parkers.

Tomorrow Bethlehem clashes with the same Giants in their final contest, and we expect to see the Parkers overpower the Giants, for it would be asking too much of the New Yorkers to eliminate both the pinnacle and leave a clear road for the Woodsies.

TORONTO GRADS IN FINAL CLASH

Plenty of competition is before the Toronto Varsity Grads during their stay in Boston, as some of the series with the University Club team for tonight at the Arena. Grads defeated University Club 3-1 in the first game. Five games are billed for Grads before they sail from Halifax, N. S., January 22.

Next Wednesday the Canadian Champions play at Dunville, Ont., and next Saturday the Grads tackle London, Ont. On January 18 the Grads meet Kingston, Ont., and the following night play an all-star team in Montreal.

On Saturday night, January 21, the Toronto Grads will play an all-star Maritime Provinces team in Halifax. The following day they sail for France and the Olympics.

Amateurs Battle in St. Joe's Show

Hub amateur boxers will make their initial bid tonight in the weekly tournament of the St. Joseph's A. A. at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin square, for a place on the Boston team which will meet the boxers of five cities in the first big international tournament of the season, to be staged Monday, January 23.

With this event approaching, tonight's show is marked by interest in tonight's event and it is expected that the largest entry list of the season will be mustered, together with one of the biggest crowds.

Bouts in seven classes are on the card, including two divisions for novices. The newcomers will contest in the 105 pounds class, 115 pounds classes, while the open classes comprise 112, 135, 147, 160 and 175 pounds classes. The leaders of all divisions entered it is expected that the bouts in the tournament will be the closest of the season.

BROADWAY A. C. PLANS BOUTS NEXT THURSDAY

The Broadway A. C., of South Boston, Mass., will hold their amateur show, next Thursday.

Steve McDermott, of South Boston, and Frankie Flynn of Charlestown, are entered in the 160-lb. class.

The following classes will be contested 112, 135, 147, 160, open, 115-lb. novice.

Entries should be sent to Billy Griffin, 320 Broadway, South Boston, Mass.

B. C.'S ONLY ENTRY IS DALEY

Eagle Captain in Special 500-Yard Race at K. of C. Games Tonight in N. Y.

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

Captain Babe Daley of the Boston College track team will be the only representative of the Maroon and Gold in the Knights of Columbus games in New York, this evening. Babe will run his first race of the Winter season which will be a special five hundred yard gallop.

Daley has been running in good form all season during the practice seasons at the Heights. Coach Jack Ryder, who is going to the K. of C games, expects his track leader to win his first race.

Babe is the only member of the famous two-mile quartet which carried Boston College to a champion ship in the Penn Relay games last Spring. He proved to be one of the best half-milers ever at B. C. and was always capable of turning in good time over his favorite distance.

Babe prepared at Mercersburg where he was one of the best prep school half-milers in the country. His first track prominence was gained at Brookline High School. He was captain of the Worthy Town track contingent and was well known in local high school circles.

Ryder is grooming Daley as his sole hope to represent this season's Boston College track team at the Olympic games. Boston College had George Lermond at the last Olympic carnival and Ryder wants to see that one of his boys makes the jump over the pond this Summer.

Whether Daley will be able to make the grade or not will be evident in his first race. He could run a good half mile with any collegian in the country last season and if he has picked up any speed since then will be right in the fight when Uncle Sam looks over his halfmile contestants.

Coach Ryder is planning a busy season for his captain. Babe will be used on the medley and two-mile relay teams which Jack is building. In most of the meets this Winter he will run on the B. C. relay and also enter some special event at distances ranging from the quarter to the three-quarter miles.

Daley will run the quarter of a mile leg on the Boston College medley team which Coach Ryder has entered in the Fordham games this at Gotham a week from today. He will also run in a feature half-mile race at the Maroon games.

All Boston College will be waiting to hear the report of Babe Daley's first start. A good beginning will probably terminate in an Olympic trip. The K. of C. games will also mark the first races for two more of Ryder's pupils, Lloyd Hahn and Leo Lermond.

BOYS' SWIMMING MEET AT "Y" TONIGHT

The first boys' division swimming meet of the season at the Huntington Avenue Branch, Boston Y. M. C. A., will be tonight at 7 o'clock. There will be three divisions: Juniors, Comrades and Citizens.

The events in the Juniors' division are: 25-yard dash, 50-yard swim, 25-yard breast stroke, dives and relay.

The Comrade events are: 25-yard dash, 75-yard swim, 25-yard breast stroke, dives and relay.

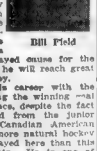
The Citizen events are: 25-yard dash, 50-yard breast stroke, 100-yard swim, dives and relay.

Hockey Stars

W. C. FIELD Tigers

For years the name W. C. Field has been three sheeted throughout the theatrical world and within a few seasons, W. C. Field of the Tigers will be as famous in the hockey world as his actor namesake.

Bill Field was brought here this Fall by Manager Eddie Powers of the Tigers. He was only 19 years of age and entering his professional hockey career. From the first time this boy appeared on the ice at the Arena Field has displayed cause for the predictions that he will reach great heights in hockey.



Bill Field

He opened his career with the Tigers by scoring the winning goal against Providence, despite the fact that he jumped from the junior ranks to the Canadian American League. Few more natural hockey players have played here than this lad from Toronto. He is one of those rare types who does not watch the puck while dribbling. He is very fast, breaks quickly and has a fine shot.

Bill Field is quiet, modest, and a very likable boy. He is as game as a pebble and has never been known to complain or criticize. Field will be a credit to the game, which would benefit by the presence of more players of his type.

AN EAGLE IN FLIGHT

QUITE AN HONOR

Was accorded Capt. Babe Daley of the B. C. track team when he was invited to compete in the special 500-yard event at the K. of C. games in New York tonight. Daley was a member of the great two-mile B. C. relay team last season.

"WHERE'S Mr. Boston hang his lid? A little service, please."

Mayor "Bossy" Gillis of Newburyport busted into the Sporting Department with fire in his eyes and pep in his voice.

"Came to town on the invitation of Bob Gillis, City Editor of the American," piped "Bossy." "I wouldn't be surprised if Bob and I dropped from the same family tree. A great gang are the Gillises. I'll back up Bob in anything he has to say on this from monkey to man stuff.

"You say Mr. Boston is down at the gym looking over King Solomon. Is that the bloke who had all the wives? Wanted to mitt Mr. Boston as I read his stuff and like it. Then he rolls through life just like people should, no cares, no worries, handing out laughs along the line."

THE door leading into the Sporting Department popped open. And in breezed Mr. Boston.

"If it isn't 'Bossy' Binsse-if," laughed the veteran. "How would you like to box with Rocky Stone?"

"Just now I've all I can handle down in Newburyport," countered "Bossy." "Tell me, what kind of a fighter or sheik is this fellow Solomon?"

"A wow," said back Mr. Boston. "He has drawn more than $100,000 in five fights in Boston which shows what the public thinks of him. He's the same to the fight racket, 'Bossy', that you are to the political game. A real headliner. Do you get me, oldtimer?

"I saw this Solomon in his five Boston matches. He gave Jim Maloney three scotching battles, while he made Jack Sharkey step on the gas to win.

"I'll never forget the night at Braves Field when Colomon pasted Maloney on the whiskers with a right hand sock. Neither will Johnny McGrath or Harry Kelley who were in Maloney's corner.

"YOU can learn something about showmanship from Solomon, 'Bossy.' He has that something which draws people to him. Perhaps it is because he gives the mob a run for its money. Guess it's the same in politics. There's so much dead wood around that when a guy shows a little life the gang starts cheering.

"Don't believe it, 'Bossy,' if they tell you Solomon has a thousand wives. This King has only got one as far as I can find out. And I imagine they allow a bird one wife even in Newburyport.

"One sparring partner at a time has always been my motto. There are boxers who carry along two and three sparring mates, but the freight is too tough for that in this matrimonial racket.

"I UNDERSTAND the Navy will fire a million or so punches at Solomon Monday night at the Arena instead of giving him a salute. One Ernie Schaaf will do the heavy cannonading. This kid is the most promising young heavyweight in the country. He dented Maloney at Long Branch and is prepared to do it in even more impressive style if Shamus quits cutting coupons long enough to pull on a pair of six ounce gloves.

"If I were you, 'Bossy,' I'd hop in to somebody's flivver Monday and whirl into Boston and see the jam.

"You know, Rocky Stone is also on the card. He's going to try to nail down the heavyweight championship of Turkey with left hooks to the beezer when he rattles away at one Hagen Hansen, a Turkish trophy or something."

"Maybe I'll be able to make it," rejoined "Bossy." "Things are rather quiet in Newburyport after 8 p. m."

TUFTS FIVE TO OPEN WITH NORTHEASTERN

With practically a green quintet Tufts will open its basketball season against Northeastern tonight at the Boston "Y." Coach Manly's Jumbo five, although crippled by the ineligibility of "Fish" Ellis, star forward, and Leo Applani, a veteran guard, has been considerably strengthened by several promising men from last year's freshman squad.

"Red" Merchant, for three years a star at Rivers School and captain of the frosh last season; "Red" Butlers, a sophomore with experience as a forward and centre with several teams in the Canal Zone, and "Doc" Fitch, a transfer from the University of Vermont, where he played a regular forward berth, will all see action against the Huskies.

LOUGHRAN HAS CLOSE CALL IN LOMSKI BOUT

New York, Jan. 7.—Knocked down twice for counts of nine in the first round Tommy Loughran, the light heavyweight champ, gave a masterly exhibition of scientific boxing in defending his title against Leo Lomski of Aberdeen in the Garden. Tommy took 13 of the 15 rounds.

The first round opened tamely enough. Tommy was jabbing lightly with his left and stepping around when Lomski suddenly rushed in and planted a left and right to the jaw. Down went the champ on his back, his heels flying high in the air.

Tommy rolled over at the count of three and waited for nine before getting to his feet.

Tommy was outboxing and outhitting his opponent when he ran into more trouble. As Tom jabbed once more with his left Leo put over a right hand cross counter that landed flush on the angle of the jaw. Once more the champion went down as though shot through the head. He got up at nine and the bell sounded before Lomski could do further damage.

From that time on Loughran held the fight safe showing all the skill of a Jim Corbett. He baffled his opponent's attempts to rush him by jumping straight lefts into his face.

GEHRIG MAY HAVE SIGNED CONTRACT FOR $25,000

New York, Jan 7.—Lar-rupin' Lou Gehrig, who hits them far and often for the Yankees, signed a three-year contract on Wednesday it was revealed by Colonel Jacob Ruppert. The amount of the salary was not disclosed, but an unconfirmed report put the figure at $25,000 a year, or $75,000 for the period that Gehrig signed for.

Harvard and McGill Battle in New York

New York, Jan. 7.—New York hockey fans will be treated to another international collegiate hockey game tonight, when Harvard meets McGill here this evening.

Local hockey fans have been awaiting this game all season and a record crowd for a college game is expected to pack the Garden this evening.

Harvard, due to its clean slate this season, is the favorite. The Crimson this year has a real inter collegiate contender and right now tops all college teams in this country. The Crimson has defeated Boston University and Tech but the big bonnet in their hat is a win over Toronto, McGill's ancient Canadian rival.

The Crimson team was not due here until late afternoon, coming over from Boston late this morning. McGill has been here for two days and has had three practice sessions on the local ice.

The Canadians in their workouts here have been far more impressive than in recent years. In their ranks are at least two players who have caught the eye of Manager Lea Patrick of the Rangers. Roger St. Germaine in center ice and Rog McMahon on the defence rate high in the estimation of the local manager and it will not be surprising if both are playing here next year.

Harvard's high scorer the lithe Bobby Giddens, is well known to the Canadian players here Giddens lives near most of the McGill players in Canada, and incidentally has played with at least three of their number in the Ottawa City League.

The McGill players are well acquainted with Joe Morrill, Harvard's goalie. Captain St. Germaine rated the Crimson guardian among the best that he has played against and expects to have a hard time scoring tonight.

It seems doubtful that McGill will waive the twelve man player rule for tonight's game. Harvard is bringing over its large squad. But the chances are that only a dozen Crimson players will see action tonight.

POLO TEAMS IN TWIN BILL

Followers of Pony Polo will flock to the Commonwealth Armory tonight, the attraction being the opening of the regular league season of the Boston Indoor Pony Polo League for the Charles W. Plummer Memorial Cup.

A double header in match play is on the schedule for this evening with the Harvard Freshman trio clashing with the 51st Brigade trio in the opener and the 110th Cavalry Freebooters in the final match.

In this double event those present should witness some fast riding and clever stick work as the players are all experienced and have had considerable practice during the past two months.

Of added interest will be the new handicapping system which will be tried out for the first time in the league competition. In the Harvard-Brigade tilt the teams are about evenly handicapped, and the result should be rather close.

MUNN'S PUNCH MENACE TO ROBERTI

The triumphant streak of Roberto Roberti, 23-year-old heavyweight champion of Italy, whom Hub Latins regard as the next world's champion, will terminate with a mournful dull thud, if the opinion of leading boxing critics can be taken as a criterion.

For Roberti's board of managers have been caught for a sleeper in accepting a contract for the Italian knockout king to swap wallops with Monte Munn, Nebraska giant, in the 10 round feature bout for the Argonne A. A. next Friday night at Mechanics Building. At least such seems to be the unanimous opinion of flatic men in New York, according to Eddie Mack, Argonne matchmaker, who just returned from the dazzling lights of Broadway.

Roberti, like all other foreign heavyweights, is being piloted by a managerial board, which always goes into a huddle to consider each new offer. Yet Matchmaker Mack ran the gauntlet of this six-phase board and returned to the Hub with one of the prize heavyweight bouts of the year.

Munn is a fierce hitter. He triumphed in his bouts over Lightning Dick Ferguson and later over Leo Gates by getting home a crushing wallop before the limit was reached. Munn broke into the fight game with 13 straight knockouts to develop into one of the best drawing cards in the country.

Yet Roberti has a record which compares favorably with that of Munn. He won Jack Gagnon spinning to the canvas twice in their recent meeting here and only Gagnon's ring experience saved him from passing out of the picture.

In nine straight fights since coming to this country, the black eyed Italian youth has not met defeat

MALONEY IS TO COME BACK TO FIGHT SCHAAF

Jim Maloney, South Boston heavyweight, has definitely announced that he will come out of his retirement to fight Ernie Schaaf in the event that the young sailor heavyweight succeeds in whipping King Solomon at the Arena Monday night in the feature match of the Suffolk A. A.

Maloney feels the call of the crowd again, the lure of the cash that drew Jeffries and Dempsey out so many more back to the ring. In addition, he feels that he has personal score to settle with Schaaf.

According to the popular belief, Schaaf, with 20-ounce pillows, hammered Maloney around so mercilessly at Long Branch when the South Boston freshman was training for his most recent bout with Sharkey that all Maloney's fight was left in that same training ring.

The semi-final bout, one attractive, for it will introduce Henry Lamar, brilliant young heavyweight from Washington, against be towering Cleary Rioux, the woodsman from Canada. Under the management of Frank Shannon, Lamar is stepping to the front with groundgaining strides.

In another eight-rounder, Roy Mitchell of Halifax will come back to Boston, with Marvin Shaffner as his opponent. Mitchell is training at Fitzpatrick's gymnasium in South Boston and is confident that he will start another winning surge that will lead him to a bout for the light heavyweight championship of the world.

The rest of the card is intact and will consist of the following six rounders, making a total of 50 scheduled rounds: Jesse Dorchester, vs. Higgins in the fly class; Johnny Percio, Providence R. I. vs. Jesse Revere; Ritchie Mullen, Bridgewater, vs. George Carney, North End, and Ray Cross, Milford, vs. Francois Sybille, Belgian lightweight champion.

Says Dry Laws in Britain Would Mean Revolution

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP)—Prohibition in Great Britain would mean revolution, the Rev. A. F. Ingalls, Lord Bishop of Aberdeen, Scotland, declared here. As a result it is hardly fitting for us to express an opinion on prohibition in this country," said the lord bishop, "but I can say that if it were introduced in Great Britain there would be a revolution. I should like, however, to see the Ontario liquor law adopted in the British Isles."

PROSPEROUS 1928 IS ENVISIONED BY BUSH

President Irving T. Bush of the Bush Terminal Co. tells the financial editor of the Boston Evening American: "Every year cannot be a boom year, but I believe 1928 will be normal and prosperous. We do not yet appreciate the wealth and economic power of the United States. I see no reason for discouragement, and real reason for confidence."

Agreement has been completed for acquisition of Arkansas Natural Gas Co. by the Doherty Interests. A few minor details remain to be worked out before public announcement will be made.

STEEL IS KING OF COUNTRY'S INDUSTRY

Steel is the king of modern industry. It is the fibre and fabric of our factories, homes and businesses. Without steel, a pall of death would settle over the entire industrial world, and manufacturing would be at a standstill.

It is interesting to note that in Boston, Mass., the home of quality products, is the home of a company now engaged in supplying steel for all industrial purposes. Though comparatively new, the fine products that this company has to offer to trade have already put it on a par with, and they are rapidly outstripping, many of the older Steel Corporations. The offices are located at No. 15 Commercial street, and whose mills are at the corner of Binney, Second and Monroe streets, Cambridgeport, Mass.

This steel maker Steel Corporation controls is under the direct executive guidance of Mr. Carl Stahleker, vice president and general manager of the company. Mr. Stahleker is well and favorably known in the industry, having been connected with one of the largest steel companies in this district as their manager for about 25 years until he left to head his own company.

FLORIDA GROWS CONSERVATIVE

What Florida needs now is home seekers and farm owners. For the benefit of those who wish to become a permanent part of Florida, the owners of El Jobe-An have arranged a clear and logical plan whereby a Northern farmer can place himself and his family on a farm in Florida, in the best climate and on the most fertile soil in the world, at a minimum outlay. Some of the crops that can be raised to excellent advantage are Celery, in which Florida leads the United States, Straw Berries, Potatoes, Cucumbers, Cantaloupes, Peppers, Citrus Fruits such as oranges and grapefruit, a natural steady business, and bananas. Florida is the natural home of the honey bee and the industry of poultry raising is daily advancing. Upon the first payment the farm is leased to the purchaser for a period of five years and the company agrees to plow and plant the farm and keep it in good condition during 25 per cent. of net profits to the purchaser.

Mr. Joel Benn is the man behind the proposition. He is one of the foremost real estate men in Massachusetts. His achievement is well known to many of our readers in transforming hedgerows Nantasket from waste land into a gigantic development. His associates are most able men, astute and farseeing.

The Love Story of Emily Day of Dedham, by a Noted Writer of Romance

CHAPTER 22

GREAT preparations were being made for Avis Rossiter's marriage.

Emily read of them in the society column day after day, fascinated by the pageantry of the affair which would unite in holy wedlock the son of a fashionable and wealthy New York banker, a Duke Van Alstyne and the girl who had refused to marry her cousin, Mr. Bennett Day, a good, steady, well-to-do young man.

THIS WOMAN FOUND RELIEF

After Long Suffering by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been [illegible] poor health that she could not [illegible] keep up [illegible] and her own [illegible] I rode to other [illegible] under the [illegible] of doctor, enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dull indeed to Mrs [illegible]

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with avid interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Dougherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Dougherty, 1808 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Correct Manners—By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

FABLES IN SLANG — Make Sure He Slips — By George Ade

THE FABLE OF JOE AND THE DISAPPOINTED ORPHAN ASYLUM
JOE TOOK HIS OLD GENT ASIDE ONE DAY AND TOLD HIMHE WAS NO LONG FOR THIS WORLD,AND PUTTING HISTHINGS JOE'S NAME WOULD SAVE WRITING
JOE DECIDED THAT THE PARENT WITHOUT HIS ASSETS WAS AN AWFUL IMPOSITION, SO HE SUGGESTED THE PARENT GO TO A HOME FOR AGED PERSONS WITH CARELESS PENS
THE FATHER STILHAD A FEW THINKS — HE SENFOR A LAWYER TRICKIERTHAN JOE'S WHO WAS GLAD ENOUGH TO SPLIT HIS BELONGINGS WITH HIM
THE OLD GENT WENT TO RESORTS ON HIS RECOVERED LUCRE, PICKED OUT TABLES WHICH GAVE HIM A VIEW OF GIRLS COMING IN AND SURPRISED THE A.R BY MARRYING A STENOG 19 YEARS OLD THAT HE MET IN A HOTEL LOBBY— NO HOPE FOR JOE ANYMORE!
MORAL WHEN PUTTING SKIDS UNDER A RELATIVE, MAKE SURE HE SLIPS!

GOOD TIME GUY — The Old Homestead — By Frank Smiley

GUY'S DEAL FOR HIS HOUSE TURNED OUT SWEET FOR HIM AND SOUR FOR SCROGGINS, WHO LOST $2,500 ON THE TRANSACTION.....
NOW MAW, JUST IMAGINE YOURE MY BEST GAL AND I'M TAKING YOU FOR A WALK---AND YOU WON'T HAVE TO STRETCH YOUR IMAGINATION MORE THAN A QUARTER OF A MILE!
THERE IT IS, MAW---THE OLD HOME! MAKES ME WANT TO CRY WHENEVER I SEE THE WOODSHED, WHERE I CRIED PLENTY AS A YOUNK!
CHEER UP, DEAR---REMEMBER OUR FAMILY MOTTO: A GREEN IS NEVER BLUE!
HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO MOVE BACK IN RIGHT NOW---LOOSE SHINGLES, LEAKY ROOF, AND ALL?
OH, IF I ONLY COULD!
WELL, YOU CAN! HERE'S THE KEY, AND WHAT IT FITS IS YOURS! I BOUGHT THE HOUSE BACK FROM SCROGGINS, AND NOW YOU CAN FEEL AT HOME AGAIN!
OH, SON---I'M SO HAPPY I'M UP TO MY EYES IN TEARS!

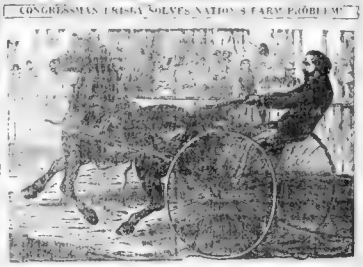
CONGRESSMAN FRISBY SOLVES NATION'S FARM PROBLEM



... one of his breath-taking demonstrations with horses

By MISTER FRISBY
Congressman-at-Large

Washington—I have sat back with amusement while others make their feeble efforts to help the farmer. Now I feel it is time for me to step forward and settle the farm problem once and for all.

Let me state it thus:

Q. What are farms for?
A. To grow grain and hay.
Q. Why grow grain and hay?
A. To feed horses.
Q. What governs prices?
A. Supply and demand.
Q. If everybody uses autos and nobody uses horses, what happens?
A. No demand for grain and hay; prices drop.
Q. What is solution?
A. Everybody get 'em auto and buy a horse.

Why, the whole thing is as simple as it can be—anyone with horse sense can appreciate the Frisby Plan.

I am now preparing some rapid-fire legislation to eliminate the automobile and make the nation think in terms of horses. Just as Lindbergh is striving to make the nation "air-conscious" I will make the nation "horse-conscious."

I propose to make a non-stop horseback ride from New York to Guatamala.

Follow me closely—because you are doubtless listening to the next President of these here now United States.

Early up and take early to town, but stop an hundred times to look at my new electrick cigar lighter and presse of the newest gadget device, and a plume in the wrike give me more pleasure than when it doth sparke, and since it did make a flame so that I did not have learn to smoke it but say with prise to myself the pleasure couple to both be enjoyed. And so to the pantery.

As the luckiest man,
Lost soon by default
I am a property owner,
Of a piece of land.

—W. M. W.

BOSTON RADIO AMERICAN

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

'CHILDREN'S CLOTHES' BY BETTY ALDEN INTERESTS

WLOE radiated the screams of a group of series of talks on 'children's clothes' by Betty Alden, society editor of the Boston Evening American, at 4 o'clock last night. For 15 minutes the speaker described in colorful detail what children of Beacon Hill and the Back Bay wore as they played about in the warm indoor gardens, Commonwealth avenue and the Brookline country club grounds.

Betty Alden all through her talk chose to limit herself to the description of two groups of children. The children too young to attend school were described as they play in their practical and warm clothes. The older group, old enough to skate and have more freedom, were described as they play about the Brookline Country Club and the outdoor skating rinks.

TODAY

plosive messages from this air would be most convincing.

In one way or another this country should uphold its treaty rights for a Nicaragua canal and prove that it takes seriously President Coolidge's warnings and accusations of last January and last April, denunciations, Mexico's conspiracy, and secret warfare against the United States.

If you are too fat, you treat your heart unjustly. So says Dr. James McLester. The heart works harder to carry extra weight, but that is only part of it. Fifty to 100 useless pounds of weight represent endless billions of living cells that demand nourishment, heat, water and their added share of the energy that causes metabolism or change of tissue.

Extra weight tires the body, brain and heart, constituting a "loafer class," or idle rich class in the system that shortens life, diminishes comfort and usefulness. In that, a human body is like a government. Idle rich that consume and contribute nothing except silly opinions, are harmful to the entire body politic and a way should be found to make them work.

An insane person is not allowed to control his property. Is there any good reason why an idle, non-productive drone should be allowed to control his? That may sound like the dreaded "Bolshevism" now. But some day, it will become necessary to recall earnestly Hamilton's warning: "Monarchies are destroyed by poverty, republics are destroyed by wealth."

B. C. Forbes says that great banking houses, notably Morgan and Co., biggest of the aggressively enterprising firms, admit to partnership men about forty years old. Davison, Lamont, Morrow and other important Morgan partners were taken in at about forty, the age supposed to combine youthful judgment with power to carry a heavy load.

In other days, forty began the "graybeard" age. Great careers, Alexander and Napoleon, the two most spectacular, were over at that age. Age is pushed further and farther back, and the J. P. Morgan of 200 years hence may be selecting 75-year-old partners for their "combination of mental and physical strength."

Senator Capper of Kansas seeks reduction in railroad freights on grain. Not all farmers realize that Uncle Sam's money has been spent to make it impossible for farmers in some part of the United States to compete with Canadian farmers. Northwest Canadian wheat reaches our east coast and Europe, through the Panama Canal, at low freight rates. This country built the canal, taxing its citizens, and pays the whole world use the canal at the same rate as Americans pay.

Farmers in this country away from the seaboard, pay very high railroad freights to either coast and cannot compete with those fortunately placed Canadians. That applies to products other than grain.

Railroads must live and grow, of course. But if the government cannot or should not reduce freight rates on grain, why not give a bounty or subsidy to farmers unfortunately situated. Better still, why not build canals, as Europe does, and give farmers better transportation to the Atlantic and the Gulf.

SEES RUM ENDANGERING STANFORD STUDENT RULE

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Issuing a warning that student government at Stanford University is wavering in the balance, Fred Speers, editor of the Stanford Daily, student newspaper, today quoted President Ray Lyman Wilbur of the famous university as stating that during the last quarter there were more violations of the honor system and of regulations concerning drinking than ever before in recent times.

Speers pointed out that in the last quarter two student bootleggers were expelled, the men in a fraternity house whose house was cancelled were denied the right to register again, and other disciplinary measures were taken against students convicted of violating rules.

DOLORES DEL RIO SENT TO COLORADO RESORT

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Dolores Del Rio, film actress, was taken ill with a severe cold a week ago and ordered to bed Wednesday, has been sent to Palm Springs, Colorado desert resort. Her physician said she was suffering from lung congestion and bronchial trouble.

LA TOURAINE STARTS SERIES TONIGHT

From 9 until 10 o'clock tonight, from the Boston Hotel Statler studio of Central stations WBZ-WBZA, will be heard the first of a series of programs by the La Touraine Coffee Company, an organization composed of outstanding band musicians of the country, and assisted by world famous instrumentalists. Mr. Alden Redmond will officiate at the microphone.

J. N. Proctor

The outstanding feature of the concert will be the Seventh from "Lucia" by Donizetti played by a sextette of brass instruments. It is believed that this unusual combination has never before been offered to the radio audience. Additional concerts by the La Touraine Band will be announced later. The program follows:

March, Stars and Stripes Forever, Sousa; overture, Semiramis, Herold; solo, The Vanished Garden, Mr. Walter M. Smith, overture, William Tell, Rossini; tests from Lucia, Donizetti; Bouquet of Classic Airs, Frank Losee; Mr. Proctor, Director; Mr. Jerome S. Proctor, assistant director; Mr. Gerard Carroll.

P. ANDERSON IS DEAD AT 82

Peter Anderson, a retired business man, for more than forty years a resident of Somerville, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William

Peter Anderson

Cullen, at 12 Charles street, that city, of a cerebral hemorrhage and heart failure at the age of 82.

In addition to a brother and three sisters, Mr. Anderson is survived by five children and 23 grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted Monday with solemn high mass at St. Benedict's Church, Somerville, and burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Mr. Anderson went to sea at the age of 10, eventually owning the sloop four times in old-time sailing ships, and remaining a sailor for 52 years. He then engaged in the lumber and box business, at which he continued 25 years, retiring 15 years ago and turning over the business to his sons, Thomas and William.

DENMARK KING HONORS TECH NAVAL PROFESSOR

The order of Knight Commander of Dennebrogh, given only for distinguished service, has been conferred upon Professor William Hovgaard, professor of naval design and construction at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, by King Christian of Denmark.

Given on the occasion of Professor Hovgaard's 70th birthday in recognition of his far-reaching contributions to naval architecture, the honor was presented by Ole Lando consul general George Beck, at a dinner of the Danish Officers' Club in New York.

RICH INDIAN WOMAN IN $100,000 LOVE SUIT

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Another court summons today confronted Exie Fite Jackson Cobb, rich Creek Indian maiden, who has been twice married and divorced since she awoke in her shack home at Frame, Okla., in 1923 to find a huge oil gusher had brought her wealth during the night. Cobb, who at 24 has been named defendant in a $100,000 alienation suit by Leona McIntosh, another Creek girl, who obtained her wealth from oil. Leona charged that Exie sought to gain the affection of her husband, Emerson, by offers of money and other inducements.

RADIO ANNOUNCER PLANS ATLANTIC HOP

One of Canada's most noted radio announcers and broadcast station managers has announced his intention of attempting a crossing of the Atlantic next Summer. Jacques Cartier, of CKAC, La Presse, Montreal, Que., direct lineal descendant of Jacques Cartier who first sailed up the St. Lawrence River four centuries ago, it is learned in Ottawa, has already ordered a plane capable of crossing "the pond."

"BILLY" WILLIAMS
Talented and versatile, she will be heard from Station WLOE, the Boston American studio, during the "Studio Program" Monday night at 11 o'clock.

DWIGHT DAVIS ON WLOE

Hon. Dwight Davis, Secretary of War, will be heard over WLOE tonight when he addresses the alumni of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at their annual banquet to be held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The broadcast of this speech and those of President Samuel W. Stratton of M. I. T., and Dr. Frank B. Jewett of the Bell Telephone System Laboratories, from the large banquet hall, is in line with policies outlined by the Boston Evening American on the time of the formal opening of the American-Advertiser studio of WLOE last Tuesday night.

The broadcast of the Tech banquet will start at 8:30 following a half-hour studio program from the Evening American Studio. From 9 o'clock on there will be almost continuous dance music until ten minutes before midnight with Leon Sunday Adventurers' sports bulletins at 10:30. Dok Eisenberg and his Bellonians will broadcast at 10 from Howland Ballroom, and Karl Rohde and his orchestra from the State Ballroom at 11.

Tomorrow's People's Symphony Orchestra concert, to be broadcast from Jordan Hall by WLOE, will be preceded by a brief explanatory talk at the piano by Moses Smith, musical critic of the Boston Evening American.

Mr. Smith is a talented professional pianist, and he will undertake a series of popular discussions of the important works to be played by the People's Symphony on the occasion of each Sunday's concert.

Tomorrow's program starts at 12:15 p. m., with an hour's program by the WLOE concert orchestra under the direction of Achille Peri Scipio. At 1:35 there will be an organ recital by Birge Peterson from Loew's State Theatre. At 1:45 news bulletins from the Boston Daily Advertiser at 3:30 the People's Symphony Orchestra, a studio program of music, and at 10 p. m., Advertiser News Flashes.

NEW FEATURE ON AIR FROM WEEI TONIGHT

Saturday night will hold new attractions for radio listeners to WEEI's programs, beginning tonight, when the Edison station will present the first of a series of 26 broadcasts by Friend's Knights. This musical program is the gift of Friend Brothers to the radio audience, as to token of appreciation for their support. Each Saturday evening at 6:45 Friend's Knights will start their broadcast with "Home, Sweet Home."

A hymn will always be included in the program, and for the most part the music will be of the concert type, with a sprinkling of popular and old-time selections. Vocal selections by "The Minstrel Knight" will add variety to these half-hour musicales.

LEXINGTON TALES OF 1776 TO BE TOLD OVER WLEX

The first of a series of "Historical Sketches of Lexington" will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow evening, coming over WLEX. Willard D. Brown, well-known Boston architect whose home is in Lexington and whose hobby is delving into Lexington's historical past, will be at the microphone.

RADIO DIALOG

C. WILLIAM RADOS

U. S. Navy comes out with gas or serum it is going to dedicate new model battleship tonight with broadcast from four corners of ocean. Insurance reductions on all models will be announced. New nonsinkable ship introduced. Through jamming guns let us pour details.

Special wires will be pulled from Gulf of Mexico to Great Lakes, and Atlantic and Pacific Tea Stores. Opening number will be from Golden Gate, where Admiral Mitchell will criticize naval tactics while keeping Gate open with one hand. As master of ceremonies Mitchell shows himself master of critics. When he throws brick into water will be signal for Admiral Magruder and his all wet sub-marine band playing in New York.

Admiral Mahogany was to have played from the English Channel, but administration critics became uproarious when this was discovered. The prominence Admiral Big Bill was quoted as saying that a channel of mixed Irish and Scotch tears should be good enough for him and American.

* * *

Way down in Gulf Oil Lindbergh will sing that famous chant, "I'm glad I'm not a sailor, I'll never drown." This will be the signal for Secretary Kellogg Corn to toast every fluke of rivalry and dare opponents to produce a vessel that won't sink. His will be best.

All during this period countless experts will be listening and yawning. Afterwards they will say since Graham McNamee didn't do it, the broadcast was no good.

Although it is alleged every naval expert can count, still it was thought best to keep the number of stations below ten. This is in line with their policy of keeping everything below.

From Chicago will come the broadcast by Admiral Brick and Dotted Bricks. From their dressing room under the navy yard. They will sing that waltz, "five thousand experts may be right, but what does an expert know?" This will be the knockout of the broadcast, critics say. In case anyone is knocked out he will have to come to himself as naval listeners say they can only stand by because of comfort weather.

Financial talk will sink all opposition. The per cent of 8 models are expected to go to bottom. New model is cheaper because is useless to in-

Sidelights: At a total cost of more than 1,000 dollars a minute the broadcast ceased when every admiral was recalled to Washington to explain why he used a yellow-head radio set. Admiral's defence was that they had no calves, wheels or anything else in hand.

CARMELA IPPOLITO ON WEEI PROGRAM TONIGHT

A few years ago a little daughter of sunny Italy, Carmela Ippolito, made her debut as a child prodigy, playing upon the violin. Ince that time she has won many prizes, scholarships and wide fame. Tonight she appears as soloist at the fourteenth musicale to be broadcast from WEEI at 7:30 by the La Touraine Concert Orchestra, Augusto Vasiello, conductor. Among the numbers to be played by Miss Ippolito are the Concerto in A Minor by Vivaldi, Romance by Sinding, Allegro by Sammaritini and Dance of the Maidens by Kreisler.

CONCERT BAND AT HOTEL STATLER TONIGHT

From 9 until 10 tonight, from the Hotel Statler studio of Westinghouse stations WBZ-WBZA, will be heard the first of a series of programs by the La Touraine concert band, an organization composed of outstanding band musicians of the country, and assisted by world famous instrumental soloists. Alden Redmond will officiate at the microphone.

The announcement of this latest musical feature brings to a realization another step in the progressive radio plans of the W. S. Quinby Company.

ASK POLITICAL PARTIES' STAND ON PROHIBITION

New York, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—A definite declaration in its platform of the Eighteenth Amendment was asked of each political party in a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the Citizens' Committee of one hundred for law enforcement.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

POWER SYSTEM AIDS INDUSTRY

One of the greatest of New England's public servants is the New England Power System. A group which constitutes the largest power system in the New England States. This system furnishes light and power to a territory in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, covering an area of approximately 9,000 square miles.

As a result of its widespread network of transmission lines, the New England Power System not only distributes 1,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually to its own customers, but is the medium which ties together the great power plants, steam and water, of southern New England and New York State. Efficient interchange of power is systematically carried on, to the great mutual benefit of the companies and their customers.

The system has been built up according to a far-seeing policy which followed for gradual expansion until today the network thoroughly covers the heart of industrial New England. Along the lines of power development will proceed the development of New England industry. The importance of efficient power facilities is therefore hard to overcome.

The original companies comprising the New England Power System are wholesalers of electric power, selling to local electric light and power or direct to large industrial consumers having a connected load of 200 horsepower or greater.

Following the enlargement and reorganization of the holding company early in 1926, resulting in the formation of the New England Power Association, the System entered the field of retail distribution of electricity and gas on a large scale. The result of combining wholesale distribution with retail has resulted in decided advantages to both departments of the service, since considerable waste has been eliminated, production has been maintained more evenly and the equipment of the system has been improved and augmented.

The former president of the New England Power Association, Henry L. Harriman, accomplished remarkable service during his direction. Mr. Harriman is just now in the public eye in connection with the succession of public control of the Boston Elevated. The present president of the New England Power Association is Frank D. Comerford, under whose leadership still greater expansion of the service and facilities now in operation is planned.

Factory Exchange Unique in Business

David H. Mason announces that he has taken over the business of the Factory Exchange, which for the past 30 years has specialized in selling, buying and leasing factory properties. Mr. Mason says that he has a complete listing of over 2,000 factories with plans, specifications, pictures, etc., and is equipped to handle any size property in industrial real estate. The Factory Exchange is an exchange in the same sense as that of a stock exchange," says Mr. Mason. It is based on the principle of furnishing a central point where buyers and sellers may meet on a common ground and do business to mutual convenience.

"We place all available properties suitable for use by manufacturers on our lists, covering practically the whole of New England, and having established the position thoroughly by continued operations covering over 30 years, we have constant applications from parties desiring mills, plants, sites, factories, etc., of all kinds for either purchase or lease."

FAMED HOME OF GRANITE

"The stern and rockbound coast" of New England has a counterpart in the stern and rockbound depths of the quarries for which these States have long been famous.

Granite is one of the earliest rock formations in the earth's strata. An aura of grandeur always has been associated with the noble stone. The Pharaohs of Egypt built the pyramids and many of their temples of granite.

Through the material has come down through the ages, the methods of quarrying and preparing it have progressed to a remarkable degree, affording means for the exercise of almost uncanny mechanical ingenuity and for the expression of highly artistic conceptions.

"WESTERLY" FAMOUS.

Rhode Island holds an enviable reputation as a source of highest grade granite. This reputation is to a considerable extent due to the great quality of the stone. Westerly product is shipped to every State in the Union and to Canada and other foreign countries as well. Westerly granite is donotless the best and most widely known of the several varieties produced in this State.

One of the largest of the Rhode Island quarries is that of the Sullivan Granite Co. located at Westerly. This company specializes in exceptfine grade of grained blue and white Westerly granite that makes handsome monuments and equally beautiful decorative and sanitary installations.

INGENIOUS EQUIPMENT.

The Sullivan Granite Company introduced a new method whereby stone can be removed from a depth of 100 feet. Huge derricks form part of the elaborate equipment of the quarry. One of the derricks is capable of lifting 75 tons. Throughout the quarry is striking evidence of the painstaking standards that govern the production of this superior granite. Workmen may be seen drilling and boring into the granite bed in an undercut with a series of 110 feet of almost rock over their heads.

The splendid reputation which the product of the Sullivan Granite Company enjoys was not won overnight, however, loyalty to rigid standards and it is by the same token that keeps that reputation and strengthens it year after year.

The Sullivan Granite Company has contributed in full measure to the fame of New England as the home of the best granite obtainable in the world

FUELITE NEW HEATING IDEA

In this age of labor-saving conveniences there has been no contribution of such practical utility as Fuelite liquefied gas condensed in steel containers, stored outside the building in an inhabited, furnishing a strong, steady flow of gas into the burners of gas range, hot water heater, or other labor-saving appliance. To the suburban home or Summer camp not piped for ordinary gas, Fuelite is particularly adaptable. It is a purer, more volatile gas giving out intense heat. It is safe to use, being free from carbon monoxide. It will not aspyxiate, has not the explosive danger invariably present in compressed high pressure gas, and is safe in every way.

The Manchester district is covered by the Fuelite Company at No. 21 Temple Place, Manchester. The general manager, Mr. N. W. Bangs, has installed several hundred outfits in New Hampshire, and are rendering satisfaction equal to the best equipped homes in the congested city. Literature can be had free by writing the Fuelite Company at Manchester. The company will be glad to send a representative upon request.

BOSTONIAN INTRODUCES NEW BUILDING MATERIAL

Mr. S. S. Zottoli, a Boston man of long experience in building, has introduced a material known as Travatone, which has met with enthusiastic endorsement among the architects and builders. Travatone is an imitation Travatine and has been pronounced by experts equal to the genuine, which has to be imported, usually from Italy.

The wear of genuine Travatone has permanent lasting qualities, reproduces all the desirable features of Travatine, but is available for one half the price of the genuine.

Travatone, patented by S. S. Zottoli, has been used and is becoming well known in hotels, banks, schools, apartment houses and is used in hundreds of descriptions. The Elks' Hotel, the Statler, University Club, Harvard Co-op., Dorchester Court House and many municipal buildings have used this new material. Mr. Zottoli installs Travatone.

MAKERS OF FINE WINDOW SCREENS

The hygienic advantages of proper screens are too obvious to require explanation. In buying screens it has become largely a matter of selecting the most efficient screening and the most economical. The Cambridge Screen Manufacturing Company of Somerville have specialized in the manufacture of window screens for over 50 years. Much of the success of its product as we know it today is due to the ability of Frederick H. Mr. Sullivan, who for the past decade or so has managed the business. Mr. Sullivan is described by the owners of some of the finest homes in and around Boston to take care of their screening needs. Many fine Summer homes instruct him at this time of the year to prepare for coming needs. By repairing and rewiring their screens he is often able to effect considerable savings for them.

INGENIOUS WASHER IS BOON TO HOUSEWIVES

A most remarkable device for washing clothes is being offered by Practical Appliances at 45 Westbourne terrace, Brookline.

The device fits into any ordinary wash boiler, generates its own power and requires no attention from the housewife while it does the work. A strange feature of the appliance which is called the Torrent Automatic Washer is that it requires no electricity or other power to operate. It operates on the principle of the perennial urge in the ceaseless flow surges and fountain spray of hot soapy water which permeate the laundry through sixty-four streams of liquid suds.

EVERETT CONCERN IS LEADER IN ITS FIELD

For a great many years the Universal Hoist and Body Company of Everett has been at the very forefront of industrial forces in the steady improvement and invention of new methods of handling merchandise by truck.

The Universal Hoist and Body Company also acts as distributors for many allied business machines manufactured elsewhere in the country.

The Highland Body Co. are now manufacturing a complete line of cabs which include not only the sliding doors but the swinging door and the curtain door as well.

WESTINGHOUSE BULB LIGHTS MINUS WIRES

Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. has developed some new lamps which will glow when held in magnetic field and continues to glow for 16 minutes after power is shut off. Stated that bulb is not yet practical for general illumination.

U. S. CREDIT BELOW 3 P. C. IS POSSIBLE

Opinion that the credit level of the United States government which has been moving toward a 3 per cent basis may conceivably go lower is expressed by C. F. Childs & Co., the oldest house in America specializing exclusively in government bonds, in their quarterly bulletin just issued.

BOSTON RADIO AMERICAN

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

'CHILDREN'S CLOTHES' BY BETTY ALDEN INTERESTS

WLOE radiated the screams of a group of series of talks on 'children's clothes' by Betty Alden, society editor of the Boston Evening American, at 4 o'clock last night. For 15 minutes the speaker described in colorful detail what children of Beacon Hill and the Back Bay wore as they played about in the warm indoor gardens, Commonwealth avenue and the Brookline country club grounds.

Betty Alden all through her talk chose to limit herself to the description of two groups of children. The children too young to attend school were described as they play in their practical and warm clothes. The older group, old enough to skate and have more freedom, were described as they play about the Brookline Country Club and the outdoor skating rinks.

TODAY

plosive messages from this air would be most convincing.

In one way or another this country should uphold its treaty rights for a Nicaragua canal and prove that it takes seriously President Coolidge's warnings and accusations of last January and last April, denunciations, Mexico's conspiracy, and secret warfare against the United States.

If you are too fat, you treat your heart unjustly. So says Dr. James McLester. The heart works harder to carry extra weight, but that is only part of it. Fifty to 100 useless pounds of weight represent endless billions of living cells that demand nourishment, heat, water and their added share of the energy that causes metabolism or change of tissue.

Extra weight tires the body, brain and heart, constituting a "loafer class," or idle rich class in the system that shortens life, diminishes comfort and usefulness. In that, a human body is like a government. Idle rich that consume and contribute nothing except silly opinions, are harmful to the entire body politic and a way should be found to make them work.

An insane person is not allowed to control his property. Is there any good reason why an idle, non-productive drone should be allowed to control his? That may sound like the dreaded "Bolshevism" now. But some day, it will become necessary to recall earnestly Hamilton's warning: "Monarchies are destroyed by poverty, republics are destroyed by wealth."

B. C. Forbes says that great banking houses, notably Morgan and Co., biggest of the aggressively enterprising firms, admit to partnership men about forty years old. Davison, Lamont, Morrow and other important Morgan partners were taken in at about forty, the age supposed to combine youthful judgment with power to carry a heavy load.

In other days, forty began the "graybeard" age. Great careers, Alexander and Napoleon, the two most spectacular, were over at that age. Age is pushed further and farther back, and the J. P. Morgan of 200 years hence may be selecting 75-year-old partners for their "combination of mental and physical strength."

Senator Capper of Kansas seeks reduction in railroad freights on grain. Not all farmers realize that Uncle Sam's money has been spent to make it impossible for farmers in some part of the United States to compete with Canadian farmers. Northwest Canadian wheat reaches our east coast and Europe, through the Panama Canal, at low freight rates. This country built the canal, taxing its citizens, and pays the whole world use the canal at the same rate as Americans pay.

Farmers in this country away from the seaboard, pay very high railroad freights to either coast and cannot compete with those fortunately placed Canadians. That applies to products other than grain.

Railroads must live and grow, of course. But if the government cannot or should not reduce freight rates on grain, why not give a bounty or subsidy to farmers unfortunately situated. Better still, why not build canals, as Europe does, and give farmers better transportation to the Atlantic and the Gulf.

SEES RUM ENDANGERING STANFORD STUDENT RULE

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Issuing a warning that student government at Stanford University is wavering in the balance, Fred Speers, editor of the Stanford Daily, student newspaper, today quoted President Ray Lyman Wilbur of the famous university as stating that during the last quarter there were more violations of the honor system and of regulations concerning drinking than ever before in recent times.

Speers pointed out that in the last quarter two student bootleggers were expelled, the men in a fraternity house whose house was cancelled were denied the right to register again, and other disciplinary measures were taken against students convicted of violating rules.

DOLORES DEL RIO SENT TO COLORADO RESORT

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Dolores Del Rio, film actress, was taken ill with a severe cold a week ago and ordered to bed Wednesday, has been sent to Palm Springs, Colorado desert resort. Her physician said she was suffering from lung congestion and bronchial trouble.

LA TOURAINE STARTS SERIES TONIGHT

From 9 until 10 o'clock tonight, from the Boston Hotel Statler studio of Central stations WBZ-WBZA, will be heard the first of a series of programs by the La Touraine Coffee Company, an organization composed of outstanding band musicians of the country, and assisted by world famous instrumentalists. Mr. Alden Redmond will officiate at the microphone.

J. N. Proctor

The outstanding feature of the concert will be the Seventh from "Lucia" by Donizetti played by a sextette of brass instruments. It is believed that this unusual combination has never before been offered to the radio audience. Additional concerts by the La Touraine Band will be announced later. The program follows:

March, Stars and Stripes Forever, Sousa; overture, Semiramis, Herold; solo, The Vanished Garden, Mr. Walter M. Smith, overture, William Tell, Rossini; tests from Lucia, Donizetti; Bouquet of Classic Airs, Frank Losee; Mr. Proctor, Director; Mr. Jerome S. Proctor, assistant director; Mr. Gerard Carroll.

P. ANDERSON IS DEAD AT 82

Peter Anderson, a retired business man, for more than forty years a resident of Somerville, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William

Peter Anderson

Cullen, at 12 Charles street, that city, of a cerebral hemorrhage and heart failure at the age of 82.

In addition to a brother and three sisters, Mr. Anderson is survived by five children and 23 grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted Monday with solemn high mass at St. Benedict's Church, Somerville, and burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Mr. Anderson went to sea at the age of 10, eventually owning the sloop four times in old-time sailing ships, and remaining a sailor for 52 years. He then engaged in the lumber and box business, at which he continued 25 years, retiring 15 years ago and turning over the business to his sons, Thomas and William.

DENMARK KING HONORS TECH NAVAL PROFESSOR

The order of Knight Commander of Dennebrogh, given only for distinguished service, has been conferred upon Professor William Hovgaard, professor of naval design and construction at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, by King Christian of Denmark.

Given on the occasion of Professor Hovgaard's 70th birthday in recognition of his far-reaching contributions to naval architecture, the honor was presented by Ole Lando consul general George Beck, at a dinner of the Danish Officers' Club in New York.

Prof. Hovgaard

RICH INDIAN WOMAN IN $100,000 LOVE SUIT

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Another court summons today confronted Exie Fite Jackson Cobb, rich Creek Indian maiden, who has been twice married and divorced since she awoke in her shack home at Frame, Okla., in 1923 to find a huge oil gusher had brought her wealth during the night. Cobb, who at 24 has been named defendant in a $100,000 alienation suit by Leona McIntosh, another Creek girl, who obtained her wealth from oil, Leona charged that Exie sought to gain the affection of her husband, Emerson, by offers of money and other inducements.

RADIO ANNOUNCER PLANS ATLANTIC HOP

One of Canada's most noted radio announcers and broadcast station managers has announced his intention of attempting a crossing of the Atlantic next Summer. Jacques Cartier, of CKAC, La Presse, Montreal, Que., direct lineal descendant of Jacques Cartier who first sailed up the St. Lawrence River four centuries ago, it is learned in Ottawa, has already ordered a plane capable of crossing "the pond."

ASK POLITICAL PARTIES' STAND ON PROHIBITION

New York, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—A definite declaration in its platform of the Eighteenth Amendment was asked of each political party in a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the Citizens' Committee of one hundred for law enforcement.

Musical

"BILLY" WILLIAMS
Talented and versatile, she will be heard from Station WLOE, the Boston American studio, during the "Studio Program" Monday night at 11 o'clock.

DWIGHT DAVIS ON WLOE

Hon. Dwight Davis, Secretary of War, will be heard over WLOE tonight when he addresses the alumni of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at their annual banquet to be held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The broadcast of this speech and those of President Samuel W. Stratton of M. I. T., and Dr. Frank B. Jewett of the Bell Telephone System Laboratories, from the large banquet hall, is in line with policies outlined by the Boston Evening American on the time of the formal opening of the American-Advertiser studio of WLOE last Tuesday night.

The broadcast of the Tech banquet will start at 3:30 following a half-hour studio program from the Evening American Studio. From 3:00 o'clock on there will be almost continuous dance music until ten minutes before midnight with Leon Sunday Adjutant-General Boyle talks at 10:30. Dok Eisenberg and his Bellonians will broadcast at 10 from Howard Ballroom, and Karl Rohde and his orchestra from the State Ballroom at 11.

Tomorrow's People's Symphony Orchestra concert, to be broadcast from Jordan Hall by WLOE, will be preceded by a brief explanatory talk at the piano by Moses Smith, musical critic of the Boston Evening American.

Mr. Smith is a talented professional pianist, and he will undertake a series of popular discussions of the important works to be played by the People's Symphony on the occasion of each Sunday's concert.

Tomorrow's program starts at 12:15 p. m., with an hour's program by the WLOE concert orchestra under the direction of Achille Peri Scipio. At 1:15 there will be an organ recital by Birge Peterson from Loew's State Theatre. At 1:45 news bulletins from the Boston Daily Advertiser at 3:30 the People's Symphony Orchestra, a studio program of music, and at 10 p. m., Advertiser News Flashes.

NEW FEATURE ON AIR FROM WEEI TONIGHT

Saturday night will hold new attractions for radio listeners to WEEI's programs, beginning tonight, when the Edison station will present the first of a series of 26 broadcasts by Friend's Knights. This musical program is the gift of Friend Brothers to the radio audience, as to token of appreciation for their support. Each Saturday evening at 6:45 Friend's Knights will start their broadcast with "Home, Sweet Home."

A hymn will always be included in the program, and for the most part the music will be of the concert type, with a sprinkling of popular and old-time selections. Vocal selections by "The Minstrel Knight" will add variety to these half-hour musicales.

LEXINGTON TALES OF 1776 TO BE TOLD OVER WLEX

The first of a series of "Historical Sketches of Lexington" will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow evening, coming over WLEX. Willard D. Brown, well-known Boston architect whose home is in Lexington and whose hobby is delving into Lexington's historical past, will be at the microphone.

RADIO DIALOG by C. WILLIAM RADOS

U. S. Navy comes out with gas or serum it is going to dedicate new model battleship tonight with broadcast from four corners of ocean. Insurance reductions on all models will be announced. New nonskinkable snip introduced. Through jamming guns let us pour details.

Special wires will be pulled from Gulf of Mexico to Great Lakes, and Atlantic and Pacific Tea Stores. Opening number will be from Golden Gate, where Admiral Mitchell will criticize naval tactics while keeping Gate open with one hand. As master of ceremonies Mitchell shows himself master of critics. When he throws brick into water will be signal for Admiral Magruder and his all wet sub-marine band playing in New York.

Admiral Mahodget was to have played from the English Channel, but administration offices bounce operations when this was discovered. The prominence Admiral Bib Bill was quoted as saying that a channel of mixed Irish and Scotch tones should be good enough for him and American.

* * *

Way down in Gulf Oil Lindbergh will sing that famous chant, "I'm glad I'm not a sailor, I'll never drown." This will be the signal for Secretary Kellogg Corn to toast every fluke of rivalry and dare opponents to produce a vessel that won't sink. His will be best.

All during this period countless experts will be listening and yawning. Afterwards they will say since Graham McNamee didn't do it, the broadcast was no good.

Although it is alleged every naval expert can count, still it was thought best to keep the number of stations below ten. This is in line with their policy of keeping everything below.

From Chicago will come the broadcast by Admiral Brick and Dotted Bricks. From their dressing room under the navy yard. They will sing that waltz, "five thousand experts may be right, but what does an expert know?" This will be the knockout of the broadcast, critics say. In case anyone is knocked out he will have to come to himself as naval listeners say they can only stand by because of comfort weather.

Financier talk will sink all opposition when Type on 8 models are expected to go to bottom. New model is cheaper because is useless to in-

* * *

Sidelights: At a total cost of more than 1,000 dollars a minute the broadcast ceased when every admiral was recalled to Washington to explain why he used a yule-tide radio set. Admiral's defence was that they had no calves, wheels or anything else in hand.

CARMELA IPPOLITO ON WEEI PROGRAM TONIGHT

A few years ago a little daughter of sunny Italy, Carmela Ippolito, made her debut as a child prodigy, playing upon the violin. Ince that time she has won many prizes, scholarships and wide fame. Tonight she appears as soloist at the fourteenth musicale to be broadcast from WEEI at 7:30 by the La Touraine Concert Orchestra, Augusto Vanucci, conductor. Among the numbers to be played by Miss Ippolito are the Concerto in A Minor by Vivaldi, Romance by Sinding, Allegro by Sammaritini and Dance of the Maidens by Kreisler.

CONCERT BAND AT HOTEL STATLER TONIGHT

From 9 until 10 tonight, from the Hotel Statler studio of Westinghouse stations WBZ-WBZA, will be heard the first of a series of programs by the La Touraine concert band, an organization composed of outstanding band musicians of the country, and assisted by world famous instrumental soloists. Alden Redmond will officiate at the microphone.

The announcement of this latest musical feature brings to a realization another step in the progressive radio plans of the W. S. Quinby Company.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

POWER SYSTEM AIDS INDUSTRY

One of the greatest of New England's public servants is the New England Power System. A group which constitutes the largest power system in the New England States. This system furnishes light and power to a territory in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, covering an area of approximately 9,000 square miles.

As a result of its widespread network of transmission lines, the New England Power System not only distributes 1,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually to its own customers, but is the medium which ties together the great power plants, steam and water, of southern New England and New York State. Efficient interchange of power is systematically carried on, to the great mutual benefit of the companies and their customers.

The system has been built up according to a far-seeing policy which followed for gradual expansion until today the network thoroughly covers the heart of industrial New England. Along the lines of power development will proceed the development of New England industry. The importance of efficient power facilities is therefore hard to overcome.

The original companies comprising the New England Power System are wholesalers of electric power, selling to local electric light and power or direct to large industrial consumers having a connected load of 200 horsepower or greater.

Following the enlargement and reorganization of the holding company early in 1926, resulting in the formation of the New England Power Association, the System entered the field of retail distribution of electricity and gas on a large scale. The result of combining wholesale distribution with retail has resulted in decided advantages to both departments of the service, since considerable waste has been eliminated, production has been maintained more evenly and the equipment of the system has been improved and augmented.

The former president of the New England Power Association, Henry L. Harriman, accomplished remarkable service during his direction. Mr. Harriman is just now in the public eye in connection with the succession of public control of the Boston Elevated. The present president of the New England Power Association is Frank D. Comerford, under whose leadership still greater expansion of the service and facilities now in operation is planned.

Factory Exchange Unique in Business

David H. Mason announces that he has taken over the business of the Factory Exchange, which for the past 30 years has specialized in selling, buying and leasing factory properties. Mr. Mason says that he has a complete listing of over 2,000 factories with plans, specifications, pictures, etc., and is equipped to handle any size property in industrial real estate. The Factory Exchange is an exchange in the same sense as that of a stock exchange," says Mr. Mason. It is based on the principle of furnishing a central point where buyers and sellers may meet on a common ground and do business to mutual convenience.

"We place all available properties suitable for use by manufacturers on our lists, covering practically the whole of New England, and having established the position thoroughly by continued operations covering over 30 years, we have constant applications from parties desiring mills, plants, sites, factories, etc., of all kinds for either purchase or lease."

FAMED HOME OF GRANITE

"The stern and rockbound coast" of New England has a counterpart in the stern and rockbound depths of the quarries for which these States have long been famous.

Granite is one of the earliest rock formations in the earth's strata. An aura of grandeur always has been associated with the noble stone. The Pharaohs of Egypt built the pyramids and many of their temples of granite.

Through the material has come down through the ages, the methods of quarrying and preparing it have progressed to a remarkable degree, affording means for the exercise of almost uncanny mechanical ingenuity and for the expression of highly artistic conceptions.

"WESTERLY" FAMOUS.

Rhode Island holds an enviable reputation as a source of highest grade granite. This reputation is to a considerable extent due to the great quality of the stone. Westerly product is shipped to every State in the Union and to Canada and other foreign countries as well. Westerly granite is donotless the best and most widely known of the several varieties produced in this State.

One of the largest of the Rhode Island quarries is that of the Sullivan Granite Co. located at Westerly. This company specializes in exceptfine grade of grained blue and white Westerly granite that makes handsome monuments and equally beautiful decorative and sanitary installations.

INGENIOUS EQUIPMENT.

The Sullivan Granite Company introduced a new method whereby stone can be removed from a depth of 100 feet. Huge derricks form part of the elaborate equipment of the quarry. One of the derricks is capable of lifting 75 tons. Throughout the quarry is striking evidence of the painstaking standards that govern the production of this superior granite. Workmen may be seen drilling and boring into the granite bed in an undercut with a series of 110 feet of almost rock over their heads.

The splendid reputation which the product of the Sullivan Granite Company enjoys was not won overnight, however, loyalty to rigid standards and it is by the same token that keeps that reputation and strengthens it year after year.

The Sullivan Granite Company has contributed in full measure to the fame of New England as the home of the best granite obtainable in the world

FUELITE NEW HEATING IDEA

In this age of labor-saving conveniences there has been no contribution of such practical utility as Fuelite liquefied gas condensed in steel containers, stored outside the building in an inhabited, furnishing a strong, steady flow of gas into the burners of gas range, hot water heater, or other labor-saving appliance. To the suburban home or Summer camp not piped for ordinary gas, Fuelite is particularly adaptable. It is a purer, more volatile gas giving out intense heat. It is safe to use, being free from carbon monoxide. It will not aspyxiate, has not the explosive danger invariably present in compressed high pressure gas, and is safe in every way.

The Manchester district is covered by the Fuelite Company at No. 21 Temple Place, Manchester. The general manager, Mr. N. W. Bangs, has installed several hundred outfits in New Hampshire, and are rendering satisfaction equal to the best equipped homes in the congested city. Literature can be had free by writing the Fuelite Company at Manchester. The company will be glad to send a representative upon request.

BOSTONIAN INTRODUCES NEW BUILDING MATERIAL

Mr. S. S. Zottoli, a Boston man of long experience in building, has introduced a material known as Travatone, which has met with enthusiastic endorsement among the architects and builders. Travatone is an imitation Travatine and has been pronounced by experts equal to the genuine, which has to be imported, usually from Italy.

The wear of genuine Travatone has permanent lasting qualities, reproduces all the desirable features of Travatine, but is available for one half the price of the genuine.

Travatone, patented by S. S. Zottoli, has been used and is becoming well known in hotels, banks, schools, apartment houses and is used in hundreds of descriptions. The Elks' Hotel, the Statler, University Club, Harvard Co-op., Dorchester Court House and many municipal buildings have used this new material. Mr. Zottoli installs Travatone.

MAKERS OF FINE WINDOW SCREENS

The hygienic advantages of proper screens are too obvious to require explanation. In buying screens it has become largely a matter of selecting the most efficient screening and the most economical. The Cambridge Screen Manufacturing Company of Somerville have specialized in the manufacture of window screens for over 50 years. Much of the success of its product as we know it today is due to the ability of Frederick H. Mr. Sullivan, who for the past decade or so has managed the business. Mr. Sullivan is described by the owners of some of the finest homes in and around Boston to take care of their screening needs. Many fine Summer homes instruct him at this time of the year to prepare for coming needs. By repairing and rewiring their screens he is often able to effect considerable savings for them.

INGENIOUS WASHER IS BOON TO HOUSEWIVES

A most remarkable device for washing clothes is being offered by Practical Appliances at 45 Westbourne terrace, Brookline.

The device fits into any ordinary wash boiler, generates its own power and requires no attention from the housewife while it does the work. A strange feature of the appliance which is called the Torrent Automatic Washer is that it requires no electricity or other power to operate. It operates on the principle of the perennial urge in the ceaseless flow surges and fountain spray of hot soapy water which permeate the laundry through sixty-four streams of liquid suds.

EVERETT CONCERN IS LEADER IN ITS FIELD

For a great many years the Universal Hoist and Body Company of Everett has been at the very forefront of industrial forces in the steady improvement and invention of new methods of handling merchandise by truck.

The Universal Hoist and Body Company also acts as distributors for many allied business machines manufactured elsewhere in the country.

The Highland Body Co. are now manufacturing a complete line of cabs which include not only the sliding doors but the swinging door and the curtain door as well.

WESTINGHOUSE BULB LIGHTS MINUS WIRES

Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. has developed some new lamps which will glow when held in magnetic field and continues to glow for 16 minutes after power is shut off. Stated that bulb is not yet practical for general illumination.

U. S. CREDIT BELOW 3 P. C. IS POSSIBLE

Opinion that the credit level of the United States government which has been moving toward a 3 per cent basis may conceivably go lower is expressed by C. F. Childs & Co., the oldest house in America specializing exclusively in government bonds, in their quarterly bulletin just issued.
